Section One – Setting the Scene

1.1 Purpose

This multi-agency procedure represents the commitment of agencies within Grampian to:

- unite in the prevention of and protection from harm, mistreatment and neglect of adults at risk aged 16 years and over.
- ensure situations of actual or suspected harm, exploitation, mistreatment and neglect are identified, reported, recorded and investigated; and
- provide support and protection for adults at risk who are experiencing harm.

This procedure will be used throughout Grampian to guide and inform local inter-agency procedures and practice concerning the protection of adults who may be at risk. It provides a framework which will:

- put adults at risk at the centre of the protection process.
- enable workers to recognise when adults may be at risk of harm, mistreatment or neglect.
- explain how assistance and services can be provided
- clarify the current legal position.
- ensure the use of appropriate channels for assessment of need and investigation.
- promote positive collaborative working.
- establish a framework for case conferences, protection plans, risk monitoring and review.
- set out requirements for recording, sharing, and communicating information.

1.2 Introduction

Most adults with mental health problems, physical or learning disabilities or other needs, manage to live their lives comfortably and securely, either independently or with assistance from caring relatives, friends, neighbours, professionals, or volunteers. However, for a small number they may experience conflict, exploitation, or harm.

All citizens, organisations and agencies have a responsibility to participate in the protection of adults from the risk of harm (referred to throughout the document as ‘the adult’). This means they have a duty to report any concerns to the appropriate authority.

To protect adults at risk from harm we need to make sure that individuals and their carers are empowered by knowing what they can expect, understand their rights and have access to a responsive complaints and advocacy service. Those involved in the support and protection of the adult will be trained, supported and enabled to work together, to create a positive and empowering ethos.

The Adults with Incapacity \(Scotland\) Act 2000, Mental Health \(Care and Treatment\) \(Scotland\) Act 2003, and Adult Support and Protection \(Scotland\) Act 2007 introduced duties and provide a range of guidance relating to the protection of the adult.

Supporting and protecting adults at risk of harm can be complex. We acknowledge that this guidance cannot cover all eventualities; however it is intended for universal use.

1.3 Principles of Practice for Supporting and Protecting Adults at Risk of Harm

Agencies should adhere to the following guiding principles:

- Work within the principles laid down by the Act and its associated code of practice.
- Work within the principles laid down by the Health and Social Care Standards ie dignity and respect, compassion, be included, responsive care and support and wellbeing.
- Work together within an interagency framework.
- Promote the empowerment and well-being of adults through the services/support they provide.
- Act in a way which supports the rights of the individual to lead an independent life, based on self-determination and informed choice.
- Identify people who are unable to make their own informed decisions and/or to protect themselves and their assets.
- Recognise that the right to self-determination can involve risk but that this should be minimised whenever possible and where necessary, through the use of a risk management process.
- Ensure that when the right to an independent lifestyle and choice is at risk, the individual concerned receives appropriate help, including advice, protection and support from relevant agencies e.g. independent advocacy.
- Ensure that the law and statutory requirements are known by Agencies and used appropriately, so that adults receive the protection of the law and access to the judicial process.

Section Two – Adults at Risk

2.1 Definitions

Who is at risk? (Three Point Test)

The Act defines an 'adult at risk' as a person aged 16 years or over who:

- is unable to safeguard her / his own well-being, property, rights or other interests; and
- is at risk of harm; and
- because they are affected by disability, mental disorder, illness or physical or mental infirmity are more vulnerable to being harmed than adults who are not so affected.

The presence of a particular condition does not automatically mean an adult is an 'adult at risk'. An adult may have a disability but be able to safeguard their well-being etc.

It is important to stress that all three elements of this definition must be met. It is the whole of an adult's particular circumstances which can combine to make them more vulnerable to harm than others.

Harm

Harm is an emotive term and can be subject to wide interpretation. Within the Act, harm is defined as including all harmful conduct and in particular:

- conduct which causes physical harm (including that of a sexual nature).
- conduct which causes psychological harm (for example by causing fear, alarm or distress).
- unlawful conduct which appropriates or adversely affects property, rights or interests (for example, theft, fraud, embezzlement or extortion).
- conduct which causes self-harm.

Harm can happen anywhere, including at private addresses, in hospital and registered care settings or in the community. Harm may involve elements of a power imbalance, exploitation and the absence of full consent. It can be the result of neglect, by self or others.

Who may cause harm?

The adult may be harmed by a wide range of people, including a;

- member of staff, proprietor or service manager.
- member of a recognised professional group.
- paid carer
- volunteer or member of a community group such as a place of worship or social club.
- service user.
- spouse, relative or member of the person's social network.

- unpaid carer
- neighbour, member of the public or stranger.
- person who deliberately targets vulnerable people in order to exploit them.

It is concerning when someone in a position of power or authority abuses his or her position to harm the health, safety, welfare and general well-being of the adult.

Agencies have a responsibility to all adults who have suffered or who are at risk of harm. They may also have responsibilities towards agencies/people with whom the perpetrator is employed or works as a volunteer. The roles, powers and duties of the various agencies, in relation to the perpetrator, will vary depending on who the perpetrator is.

2.2 Types of Harm

Any or all of the following types of harm may be perpetrated as the result of criminal action, deliberate intent, negligence or ignorance and may be current or historical. These definitions are not exhaustive, and no category or type of harm is excluded because it is not listed below.

- Physical Harm - including hitting, slapping, pushing, kicking, misuse of medication, restraint or inappropriate sanctions, force-feeding, burning or scalding.
- Sexual Harm – including grooming, inappropriate touching or sexual advances, rape and sexual assault or sexual acts to which the adult has not consented, could not consent or was pressured into consenting to.
- Psychological Harm - including emotional harm, threats of harm or abandonment, deprivation of contact, humiliation, blaming, controlling, intimidation, coercion, harassment, verbal abuse (including sexualised language) or isolation or withdrawal from services or supportive networks.
- Financial or Material Harm - including theft, fraud, exploitation, pressure in connection with wills, property, inheritance, financial transactions, or the misuse or misappropriation of property, possessions or benefits.
- Neglect and Acts of Omission - including ignoring medical or physical care needs, failure to allow access to essential health, social care or educational services, withholding of the necessities of life such as medication, adequate nutrition and heating, or over/under-medicating.
- Discriminatory Harm – including actions (or omissions) and/or remarks of a prejudicial nature, focusing on a person's race, disability, religion/belief, age, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy or maternity, sex (male or female) or sexual orientation.
- Information Abuse - including failure to adhere to the relevant 'Data Protection Act' guidance, failure to provide adequate and appropriate information about Complaints/Customer Services procedures, which inhibits a person raising a concern about harm or failure to give an adult the right information e.g. benefit entitlement/claims.
- Self Harm – including neglect, self injury, hoarding and self poisoning.

- Other – including domestic abuse, gender-based violence, human trafficking, cuckooing, stalking, hate crime, mate crime, female genital mutilation, forced marriage, honour based violence and radicalisation.

2.3 Signs of Potential Harm

Suspected harm can come to light in a number of ways.

The clearest indicator is a statement or comment by the adult themselves, by their regular carer, or by others, disclosing or suggesting harm. Such statements must be acted on.

There are many other factors which may indicate harm, which could include:

- unusual, suspicious or repeated injuries or bruising.
- unusual or unexplained behaviour of carers, including a delay in seeking advice or dubious or inconsistent explanations of injuries or bruises.
- an adult found alone, at home or in a care setting, in a situation of serious, avoidable risk.
- a prolonged interval between illness/injury and presentation for medical care.
- signs of misuse of medication
- unexplained physical deterioration
- sudden increases in confusion
- demonstration of fear by the adult of another person or place.
- difficulty in speaking with the adult on their own
- the adult having anxious or disturbed behaviour.
- hostile or rejecting behaviour by the carer towards the adult.
- change in the ability of the adult to pay for services/access services, unexplained debts or reduction in assets.
- carers and/or dependants showing apathy, depression, withdrawal, hopelessness and/or suspicion.
- unnecessary delay in staff responses to the adults needs.
- important documents missing.
- inappropriate or unusual pressure being exerted by family or professionals to have someone admitted to care or to remain at home.
- inadequate record keeping in relation to unexplained incidents by care workers.
- changes in behaviour from the usual pattern, e.g. someone who previously enjoyed an activity refusing to go, or reluctance of staff to accept change in rota/role.

Whilst the Act provides clear definitions of an Adult at Risk and harmful behaviour, there remain situations that are 'borderline' where the distinction between a more general concern about care/support and an Adult Support and Protection matter are unclear. In some cases, it can be the repetition of minor actions or omissions that collectively will amount to harmful conduct.

Thresholds Guidelines are intended to assist staff in determining whether the concern is an example of poor practice which requires action by the care organisation or if it is possible harm which requires to be reported and Adult Support and Protection procedures instigated.

2.4 Vulnerabilities/Capacity

The presence of a particular condition/vulnerability does not automatically mean an adult is an adult at risk. Someone could have a disability but be able to safeguard their well-being. It is important to stress that all three elements of the adult at risk of harm definition must be met. It is the whole of an adult's particular circumstances, which can combine to make them more vulnerable to harm than others. This is helpful when considering what is meant by infirmity for example. Also, there should not normally be a 'once and for all' categorisation of people as an adult at risk. An individual's vulnerabilities, medical conditions and abilities can fluctuate and change over time.

An adult at risk may or may not have capacity. An inability to safeguard oneself is not the same as an adult not having capacity. Until an adult is assessed as being incapable of managing their affairs or making decisions about their own welfare, they have to be assumed as having capacity. No intervention can be made purely on the grounds that the agency deems an adult's choices to be unsuitable or harmful. An adult may be considered unwilling rather than unable to safeguard themselves and so may not be considered an adult at risk.

2.5 Trauma Informed Approach for Adult Support and Protection

Trauma informed practice is a strength-based approach that seeks to understand and respond to the impact of trauma on people's lives. The approach emphasises physical, psychological, and emotional safety for everyone and aims to empower individuals to re-establish control of their lives. It is client-led with a focus on future outcomes and strengths that people bring to a problem or crisis.

Trauma can be triggered by a singular event such as the death of a parent or from prolonged and repeated traumatic experiences such as neglect, domestic abuse, or sexual abuse. People from minority or marginalised groups are at higher risk of experiencing and being impacted by trauma and we therefore need to ensure our approach is accessible. Despite the large numbers of people affected, many of us do not automatically think of the possibility that someone we meet, speak with or support may have experienced trauma. This makes us less likely to recognise it.

Recognise and respond to trauma

- It is vital that staff understand the prevalence of trauma among people and the impact this trauma may have had on them.

Provide safe environments

- Help foster and sustain safe environments by putting collaboration, informed choice and empowerment for service users at the heart.

Take a strengths-based view

- Built on what people are capable of doing to create positive possibilities.

Build empowering relationships

- Give the adult a say over how services are delivered and focus on being respectful, compassionate and trusting so that the user is not in a position of powerlessness.

Promote equality of access

- Everyone deserves equal access to good quality treatment which takes account of the unique context of their life.

Section Three – Reporting a Concern

3.1 What To Do If Harm Is Suspected

If the adult is known or believed to be at risk and there is a need for immediate action to protect the adult, contact should be made with the appropriate emergency services. If the adult requires urgent medical attention this should be sought.

If a crime is known or suspected this should be reported to the police immediately by the referring organisation/individual before inquiries are made and to discuss the best way forward to protect the adult.

If an adult is known or believed to be at risk of harm the facts and circumstances of the case should be reported to the council for the area where they believe the adult to be located without delay. The Out of Hours Social Work Service should be used if appropriate. All individuals within organisations must complete the Adult Protection Reporting Form and submit to the appropriate council.

The council has a duty to investigate an alleged incident of harm. Other professionals may be involved, for example: Police; Care Inspectorate; NHS and they must fully co-operate.

The council must involve agencies in initial discussions and assessments to establish if a formal adult protection investigation needs to be instigated.

Whilst action to secure the safety and well-being of the adult is the priority, there should be no unnecessary delay in ensuring that feedback is provided to the referrer. The timing and nature of the feedback must take account of the role and status of the person to who it is being given. Data Protection legislation requirements and principles must be applied.

The process and timescales of the investigation can be seen in the flowchart.

3.2 Consent

The adult's consent to share their information should be obtained wherever possible. However, under the Adult Support and Protection legislation you do not need to obtain consent to share information, where it is known, or believed, that a person may be at risk of harm. Any disclosure must be relevant, proportionate, and necessary to the harm that is being investigated.

It may not be possible to obtain consent where:

- the adult lacks the mental capacity to consent.
- the adult is unwilling to consent because of undue pressure.
- the person acting with powers of attorney is unavailable or unwilling to give consent; or
- the situation is so urgent that obtaining consent would cause undue delay.

If the decision is made to share information without consent this should be recorded by the organisation making this decision.

Section Four – Interventions

4.1 Information Sharing

Sharing information about the adult is vital; what one person or public body may know may only be part of a more concerning picture. The Act imposes a duty on certain bodies and officer holders to co-operate with a council which is making inquiries regarding the adult. This includes a legal requirement to share information. Good practice would be that all relevant stakeholders should co-operate, not only those who have a duty to do so.

Information should be shared in accordance with the Grampian Adults at Risk Information Sharing Protocol. It is an offence to prevent or obstruct any person from acting under the Act and to refuse without reasonable excuse to provide information.

Confidentiality is important but it is not an absolute right. Sharing information is essential to enable the council to undertake the required inquiries and investigations. Proportionate information should only be shared with those who need to know and only if it is relevant to the concern identified.

In general, agencies and professionals should:

- follow relevant requirements of their regulatory body.
- Involve the adult in your information sharing practice by informing them that information may be shared, with whom and why, seeking agreement from the adult but also stressing that their safety will be the overriding consideration when sharing information.
- respect the wishes of adults who do not consent to share confidential information – unless the decision leaves others at risk of serious harm or there are allegations of a criminal nature, all of which overrides the lack of consent.
- make sure information is accurate, up to date, and necessary for the purpose it is being shared for, share only with those who need to see it, and share securely.
- always record the reason for the decision: whether it is to share or not.
- seek advice when in doubt.

4.2 Initial Inquiries

Any report that an adult may be at risk of harm, including anonymous concerns reported to the council, will be taken seriously. All cases will be considered with an open mind without assuming that harm has, or has not, occurred. All concerns will be recorded on the Adult Protection Reporting Form.

Any intervention that results from an adult protection concern must be person-centred and based on the adult's personal circumstances. For example, some adults may be known to services and it may be helpful for them to have an informal discussion with a familiar person such as a support worker rather than a Council Officer. This may enable support to be provided under least restrictive principles rather than statutory intervention. This type of informal discussion may only take place if agreed by the appropriate senior social worker/care manager.

Where initial inquiries indicate a criminal offence may have been committed against the adult, this must be reported to the police at the earliest opportunity. The role of the police in investigating the crime should not be undermined. The council must take any immediate action required to protect the adult at risk but this needs to be done in consultation with the police.

The council may decide that no further ASP action is required. The inquiry process and the reason for no further action will be recorded and reported back to the referrer. If a referrer disagrees with the decision of the council not to proceed under ASP they can escalate to the relevant council manager. A binding decision will be made by the manager based on discussion.

Where an adult has been subject to no more than five previous adult protection referrals over a 2-year period, with an outcome of no further action it is best practice to proceed to an Initial Referral Discussion. At this IRD a decision will be made regarding how future referrals should be dealt with, for example a further discussion or case conference may be held if there is a change in the pattern of risk rather than based on the number of referrals received.

4.3 Initial Referral Discussion (IRD)

The purpose of an IRD is to facilitate and support the sharing of relevant information to support initial decision making about an adult at risk and their circumstances.

An IRD should be considered in the following circumstances:

- The adult is at serious risk of harm and the decision is taken to proceed to ASP Investigation
- The need for multi-agency investigation/intervention/information is immediately apparent
- The decision is made to progress to Large Scale Investigation
- A change of risks in an existing case that requires a high level of intervention e.g. protection order
- The decision to proceed further under ASP procedures is considered 'borderline' and would benefit from multi-agency consideration.

IRD's will be undertaken in line with the Grampian IRD Process.

4.4 Investigation

As allegations vary widely, it is impossible to detail all the steps which should be undertaken in the investigation of an alleged incident of harm. However, the following points should be followed:

- Where there is information that a number of adults are considered to be or are at risk of harm, a large-scale investigation will occur in line with Large Scale Investigation Protocol.

- Investigation must be undertaken by a Council Officer.
- The investigation should be carried out as sensitively as possible. The impact on the adult should always be considered and the adult's wishes must be taken into account. A balance must be reached between the need to protect the adult and respecting their rights.
- An up to date chronology, if not available, should be completed as part of the ASP Investigation. A comprehensive, up-to-date and well-balanced chronology should underpin the associated risk assessment and protection plan. Care Inspectorate Guidance on producing chronologies should be referred to when undertaking this work.
- An investigation should involve discussion with other involved professionals, either individually or part of a multi-agency professional meeting.
- A view about the adult's capacity and communication needs should be reached by the appropriate professional/s and recorded.
- All interviews must be carried out by a Council Officer and one other professional e.g. from Social Work/NHS/Service Provider/Police. It may also be appropriate to include a person who knows the adult well. It is best practice to speak to the adult on their own although in some circumstances this may not be necessary or appropriate. If required appropriate assistance should be made available to address any identified communication or accessibility need(s).
- Undue pressure should be considered throughout the investigation.
- The provision of independent advocacy services must be considered and if not provided the reason for this decision should be recorded.
- Those involved in interviews/visits should always meet beforehand, to discuss how to proceed, making sure that they are aware of all the facts to date.
- Every effort should be made to visit to the adult's home environment and/or the environment where the alleged harm took place and undertake a professional assessment of that environment. In visiting these settings, care should be taken about personal safety.
- If an allegation of harm involving a crime has been made and reported to the Police, staff need to be aware of the need to balance the requirement to preserve forensic evidence against the needs or wishes of the victim/adult. Where there is a belief that something may be a piece of evidence or be relevant to a police investigation, it should be preserved and kept securely until it can be handed to the police. Forensic evidence may include bank statements, items of clothing, photographs or correspondence, etc.
- If it appears physical harm has occurred medical attention should be considered.
- Care should be taken with the venue and timing of the interview with the adult, to ensure he/she is at ease.

- The investigation should be undertaken as soon as possible, taking into account the impact on the adult.
- Staff taking part in an investigation should be offered debriefing by their supervising Manager.

Council Officer may experience barriers to their visit because of; the adult's chaotic routine, refusal to co-operate or concern that the visit will cause significant distress. Carers or family members, who may or may not be the harmer, could also present barriers to the visit. Council Officers need to consider how to proceed including any risks identified and alternative actions available. Where barriers persist support should be sought from Line Manager or appropriate persons within the organisation. Alternative methods to gain contact may include, involvement of other agencies, independent advocacy, seeing adult outwith home, police safe and well checks or warrant for entry.

4.5 Assessing Capacity

Where there is doubt about the adult's capacity the Grampian Capacity Referral pathway and Decision-Specific Screening Tool should be used. This tool aims to assist the practitioner consider the various elements involved in the decision-making process. It may be used to gather evidence of an adult having or lacking capacity in relation to specific decisions and also to consider whether a more formal assessment is required in order to pursue measures under the Adult with Incapacity \(Scotland\) Act 2000.

The Council Officer has to form an initial view on capacity. The Council Officer may then need to move to seek a capacity assessment through the standard procedures. Legally only a medical practitioner may undertake a medical assessment of capacity but best practice dictates that this decision should be based on a multi-disciplinary review. Therefore the initial judgement on whether an adult has capacity may not necessarily be the final judgment. By law an adult must be assumed to have capacity unless found otherwise.

The initial assessment of capacity should be based on contemporary knowledge from care providers/family members/guardian and any known formal assessments recorded in the adult's files. This information must be made available to the Council Officer carrying out an investigation under the Policy and Procedure.

Where the adult appears to lack capacity, consideration should be given to relevant legislation as detailed in the Legal Framework. Where a decision has to be made urgently about capacity, consideration must be given to the circumstances/risks and immediate actions required.

In all circumstances, account should be taken of an individual's present and past wishes, while noting that these may not necessarily change the outcome/decisions made.

4.6 Undue Pressure

There will be instances when an adult may be frightened of the consequences of cooperating because they feel or are being threatened. Someone may have persuaded the adult that they will not be believed or blamed.

If the adult has capacity and refuses consent to partake in an inquiry/investigation and undue pressure is suspected, the Council, when applying for a Protection Order, must prove to the Sheriff that:

- the adult at risk has been unduly pressurised to refuse consent; and
- there are no other steps which could reasonably be taken with the adult's consent which would protect the adult from the harm which the order or action is intended to prevent.

Undue pressure can be applied by an individual who is not directly harming the adult.

The Act provides a further example of what may be considered as undue pressure "harm which the order or action is intended to prevent is being, or is likely to be, inflicted by a person in whom the adult at risk has confidence and trust; and the adult at risk would consent if they did not have confidence and trust in that person may not be the person suspected of actually harming the adult; or the adult is afraid of, or who is threatening her/him and who the adult does not trust"

4.7 Advocacy

The Act places a duty on councils to consider the provision of appropriate services to an adult. This includes independent advocacy services.

Independent advocacy supports people:

- to express their own needs;
- to gain access to information;
- to explore and understand the options available;
- to make informed decisions.

The adult should be provided with information in an appropriate format about the role of advocacy and encouraged to consider the benefits of engaging with this service. Where advocacy is offered, declined by the adult or not deemed appropriate, the reasons for this should be clearly recorded, as should the reasons for not referring to any other 'appropriate' services. This decision should be re-visited and recorded at each formal review e.g. multi-agency meetings, review or professional meeting.

4.8 Support to Participate

The adult's views and wishes are central to adult support and protection, and every effort should be made at each stage of the process to ensure that barriers to the adult's participation are minimised.

The adult should be provided with assistance or material appropriate to their needs to enable them to make their views and wishes known. Reasonable adjustments should be made to support the adult's needs wherever identified.

It is good practice to check with the adult how included they feel and ensure they have the opportunity to say if they feel excluded at any point. This should be undertaken at various stages of the inquiry/investigation. Records and decisions should be shared with, and explained to, the adult as agreed at multi-agency meeting/case conference.

4.9 Adult Protection Visits

Under the Act, a Council Officer may visit any premises to:

- decide whether the adult is an adult at risk of harm; and
- establish whether the council needs to take any action in order to protect the adult at risk from harm.

A Council Officer may enter any place to enable or assist an inquiry and may also enter any adjacent place for the same purpose. The Council Officer must show identification and state the purpose of the visit, and they must be accompanied by another person e.g. local authority staff, health professional, police, care workers, etc.

The Act permits a Council Officer to enter any place where the adult normally resides such as:

- The adult's own home.
- A home with a relative, friend or unpaid carers.
- A registered setting such as a care home.
- Temporary or homeless accommodation.

The Act also permits a Council Officer to enter premises where the person is residing temporarily or spends part of their time including:

- A day centre.
- A place of education, employment or other activity.
- 'Respite' residential accommodation.
- A hospital or other medical facility.
- Commercial premises.
- A home with a relative, friend or unpaid carers.

Visits may only be undertaken at 'reasonable times', consideration should be given to visits taking place at times which suit the adult's usual daily routines. A balance is required between the need to carry out the investigation as soon as possible and fully involving the adult and others. An immediate visit may be needed to assess the risk and, if necessary, take protective action. This may involve multi agency discussion and consideration of likely impact on the adult and any carer.

It might not always be possible to see the adult during the investigation. Consideration should be given on how proceed including what is the level of risk, barriers that have led to non-participation, alternative actions to achieve access Agreement should be sought from line management or/and the multi-agency partnership.

The following may feature in an agreed plan to gain access where barriers exist: (this list is not exhaustive)

- Police safe and well check
- Involvement of other agencies
- Seeing the adult outwith their home
- application for a Warrant for Entry to allow entry should they be refused (see below).

4.10 Warrant for Entry

There may be times where the Council Officer is refused entry to the premises. If this happens, and providing a delay would not increase the risk to the adult, good practice would be to have a multi-disciplinary discussion and plan to co-ordinate action by those involved before deciding whether to apply for a warrant. Particular regard should be given to minimising distress and risk to the adult. The views of any other persons who may be concerned for the welfare of the adult should be taken into account.

Section 37 of the Act makes provision for Warrants for Entry, authorising a police constable to use reasonable force to gain entry. Only the council can apply for a Warrant for Entry.

The Sheriff will only grant a Warrant for Entry if they are satisfied that:

- a council officer has been, or reasonably expects to be, refused entry or otherwise will be unable to enter; or
- any attempt by a council officer to visit the place without such a warrant would defeat the object of the visit.

A Warrant for Entry granted by a Sheriff expires 72 hours after it has been granted. Once a warrant has been executed, it cannot be used again.

4.11 Preparing for Adult Protection Interviews

The Act permits a Council Officer, and the person accompanying the officer, to interview, in private, any adult found in a place being visited. The adults must be told of the purpose of the interview and of their right not to answer any questions before the interview starts. The aim of an interview is to establish;

- if the adult has been subject to harm.
- the source, nature and level of any risk to the adult.
- if the adult feels his or her safety is at risk and from whom.
- whether any action is needed to protect the adult, and to
- what action, if any, the adult wishes or is willing to take to protect him or herself.

Interviews need to be co-ordinated in a way that promotes the best outcome for the adult at risk of harm. The way in which interviews are carried out can play a significant part in minimising any distress to the adult and their family/carers, and thus increase the likelihood of maintaining constructive working relationships. It is important that the professionals carrying out the interview are prepared by having an interview discussion meeting. Decisions made in this meeting include the following and can be recorded on the Plan for Adult Protection Interview.

Joint planning ensures that best evidence is gathered on which to make decisions and support any legal proceedings by:

- ensuring that the immediate safety of the adult is considered and secured
- considering and addressing any issues relating to the capacity of the adult or their ability to communicate, in order to facilitate participation in the interview.
- enabling effective information gathering so the adult is not subjected to repeat inquiries, interviews or medical examinations.

- ensuring issues of race, ethnicity, religion and culture of the adult, and the potential impact on the interview, are taken into account

Consideration should be given to the following practicalities surrounding the interview/visit:

- Who should be interviewed, for what purpose, by whom, where and when
- Who should lead the interview; taking account of the experience of professionals involved, likely preference of the adult, previous involvement with the adult, nature of the allegation
- The timing and handling of interviews with the adult, their family/carers and witnesses
- How the interview will be recorded and how information will be shared between interviewers, interviewees and other relevant agencies

Interviews may take place within any place being visited. The choice of venue will involve a judgement based on the wishes of the adult and should be a location where the adult can participate as fully and freely as possible.

4.12 Recording Information

Each organisation or professional body must have a formal agreement as to how information about the adult is recorded. This must be adhered to, with records being kept up-to-date and accurate at all times.

All information recorded should clearly state whether it is based on information known to be factually accurate by the worker or based on suspicions, observations or allegations which have been reported.

Information regarding concerns should include:

- Nature/substance of concerns.
- Initial discussions and decisions, and reason for decisions.
- Details of care giver/significant others.
- Details of person alleged to have caused harm including current whereabouts and likely contact with the service user over the next 24 hours if known.
- Details of any specific incidents, e.g. dates, times, injuries, witnesses and evidence, such as bruising/marks, bank statements.
- Background or any previous concerns.
- Awareness/consent (or not) of the person concerned, carers, person alleged to have caused harm.
- Information given to the person, expectations and present and past wishes of the person, if known.
- The outcome of any/all investigations.

Incidents of concern, suspected/actual harm must be reported centrally within each council area using the locally agreed system. This will ensure that, wherever possible, no incidents of harm are missed.

4.13 Medical Examinations

A medical examination may be requested by a Council Officer and can only be carried out by a health professional defined under the Act as a doctor, nurse or midwife. A doctor may be asked to conduct a medical examination. A nurse or midwife may be asked to carry out an examination only if they feel competent and confident to undertake the assessment. Under the Act this can occur during a visit or as part of an Assessment Order. A Council Officer should request this examination by completion of the ASP Medical Examination Request Form except in circumstance where the adult requires immediate medical treatment

Under the Act a medical examination should be considered when:

- the adult has a physical injury;
- the explanation for injuries is inconsistent with the injuries;
- there may be physical evidence of sexual abuse;
- the adult appears to have been subject to neglect or self-neglect;
- the adult is ill or injured and no treatment has previously been sought.

A medical examination may also be required for other reasons including:

- to assess the adult's physical health needs;
- to provide evidence of harm to inform a criminal prosecution under police direction;
- to support an application for an order to protect the adult;
- to assess the adult's capacity.

A health professional may conduct a medical examination in private, this could include a physical, psychological or psychiatric assessment or examination. The examination can be carried out during a visit even if an Assessment Order has been granted to enable a medical examination elsewhere. The adult must be informed of her/his right to refuse to be examined.

A medical examination does not rule out a forensic examination being requested by the police but on occasion may inform the need for a forensic medical examination.

On completion of the medical examination, the findings will be detailed by the health professional on the Medical Examination Request Form. This form will be retained in the adult's medical notes and a copy retained by the Council Officer.

Forensic Medical Examination

A medical examination will only be undertaken by a Police Forensic Physician where

- the police are the lead agency enquiring into a criminal act
- the victim meets the criteria of an adult at risk
- the complaint relates to intentional harm against that individual, and
- consent has been obtained to medically examine them.

Where a crime is suspected or has occurred, contact should be made with Police Scotland to establish the circumstances and crime involved. If a medical examination is then required the Police will request the examination to be undertaken by a Police Forensic Physician on completion of the Forensic Examination Request Form.

Depending on the circumstances and the needs of the adult, the location of the medical examination will be assessed and agreed by the Police Forensic Physician and Enquiry Officer, who may also consult with other health/care professionals involved with the adult.

Where it is unclear if a crime has occurred, a Police Forensic Physician will not undertake a medical examination to establish if a crime has taken place, however if a medical examination is required, this should be taken forward by the Council Officer as detailed above.

4.14 Examination of Records

A Council Officer can obtain health, financial or other records for inspection. This includes records held in electronic, audio, visual or other formats. This can be requested during a visit. Records can also be requested in writing using the following documents;

- Health Records Guidance
- Financial Record request

When a person is considering the information to be shared, it is important to consider the adult's right to confidentiality in relation to their personal information before it is supplied. In particular, the relevant requirements of the regulatory body must be followed.

Whilst confidentiality is important, it is not an absolute right. Co-operation in sharing information is necessary to enable a council to undertake the required inquiries and investigations. Information should only be shared with those who need to know and only if it is relevant to the concern identified. The amount of information shared should be proportionate to addressing that concern.

Section 49 of the Act provides that it is an offence for a person to fail to comply with a requirement to provide information under Section 10, unless that person has a reasonable excuse for failing to do so.

Councils should make reasonable efforts to resolve disagreements when record holders refuse to disclose them. Any refusal to disclose information and the steps taken to resolve this and efforts to escalate should be clearly recorded.

4.15 Risk Assessments

Risk is the possibility of harm occurring and the severity of that harm. Risk assessment is the process of identifying risk and enabling decisions to be taken about whether new or improved risk controls, or protective measures, are required. Effective person-focused risk assessment relies on the active participation of all agencies/teams involved. Legislation requires that risk assessment be "suitable and sufficient". This means that the degree of effort put into risk assessment needs to be proportionate to the risk involved.

Informal risk assessments are carried out every day upon both professional and personal experience, enabling risk to be recognised and necessary precautions to be taken. These everyday judgements and decisions are an individual's responsibility and a core professional competence which underpins everything we do. Formal risk assessments are a documented evaluation of risk including potential severity of consequences and the likelihood of such an occurrence along with the preventative and protective measures in place to control the risk. The aim is to weigh up whether existing support is adequate or whether more should be done to reduce the risk to an acceptable level through improved protective measures or contingency plans.

Risk assessments must be shared between all agencies/ teams involved to ensure the consistency of response and of care provided. A multi-agency risk assessment enables commitment of all involved to implement and comply with any protective measures agreed as essential to ensure the Health & Safety of the adult, staff, and any other persons who could be affected. In respect of environmental or low level personal risks the risk assessment forms may be completed by one member of staff. The multi-disciplinary adult protection risk assessment must be completed by a multi-disciplinary group.

The Risk Assessment form should be used to identify and evaluate all significant risks associated with the adult, and to record all agreed protective measures necessary.

It is recognised that it can be a challenge to balance the positive benefits of taking risks with protection. The principles of the Act must be adhered to.

4.16 Protection Plans

Informed by the risk assessment, the Case Conference will produce an Adult Protection Plan. The protection plan will detail the actions required to manage the identified risks. This could include, but is not limited to:

- Existing control measures, as identified in the risk identification/assessment e.g. informal support networks, existing services, the adults own resilience, etc
- Statutory interventions e.g. Adult Protection Orders, AWI processes, etc
- Any other interventions or measures that have been identified through discussion at case conference.

Protection plans should be developed in line with the ASP principles and the adult should be encouraged to be actively involved in the development and implementation of their plan as far as is possible. The protection plan should be a key document and focus for all professionals working with the adult or with responsibility for monitoring risks. The plan will detail responsible parties for all actions, including for monitoring and reviewing. It will be the basis for discussion at the formal Adult Protection review, where the efficacy of the plan will be considered against the identified risk.

4.17 Protection Orders under the Act

Three Protection Orders are defined in the Act:

1. An Assessment Order allows a Council Officer to conduct an interview in private and/or health professional to conduct a medical examination in private. This may be required to establish whether the person is an Adult at Risk and if further action is required to protect him/her.
2. A Removal Order allows the Council to remove the Adult at Risk to a specified place in order to assess the situation and to support and protect him/her.
3. Banning Orders and Temporary Banning Order will ban the subject of the order from a specified place. They may have other conditions attached, for example contact under certain conditions.

Only a Council Officer can make an application for any of the Protection Orders. To apply for a Protection Order, the Council Officer must provide evidence that the adult is at risk of 'serious harm.' The Council Officer should also be satisfied that all other options have been explored under the Act's principles of providing benefit to the adult and ensuring that the intervention is the least restrictive option. Advice and guidance should be sought from the council's legal advisor.

The principle of consent is fundamental to the successful implementation of Protection Orders. Where the person has not consented, evidence must be given that the adult has been placed under 'undue pressure' to refuse consent by another person as defined under Section 35 (3) and (4). A sheriff may grant a Protection Order if he or she is satisfied that the Adult has been unduly pressurised to refuse consent and there are no other steps which could be taken which would protect the Adult.

Such 'undue pressure' may come from a person, i.e. a family member or carer in whom the adult has trust, and could come in the form of threats, physical assault, intimidation, or more subtle psychological pressure. This person is not necessarily the person alleged to have caused harm. Undue pressure may also be applied by a person that the Adult is afraid of or who the Adult does not trust.

The Sheriff will not approve a Protection Order if the adult has refused consent and insufficient evidence is given that the Adult was subject to 'undue pressure' in refusing such consent.

Where evidence is provided to the Sheriff that an adult at risk of harm lacks capacity, the requirement to prove undue pressure does not apply. If an adult does not have capacity to give consent, a guardian or an attorney may be empowered to do so on the Adult's behalf if that guardian or attorney has the power to do so. If there is no guardian or attorney for an Adult who lacks capacity, the Code of Practice states that there is no requirement to show consent or undue pressure. It will however be necessary to provide evidence of incapacity and the consent of an attorney or guardian if available.

4.17.1 Assessment Order - An Assessment Order allows a Council Officer to conduct an interview in private and/or a health professional to conduct a medical examination in private. This may be required to establish whether the person is an adult at risk and if further action is required to protect them.

The Sheriff must be satisfied that the council has reasonable cause to suspect the subject of the order is an adult at risk who is being, or is likely to be, seriously harmed and that a suitable place is available for the adult at risk to be interviewed and examined.

An Assessment Order cannot be appealed. There is no need for a court application if assessment can be carried out by agreement. The council should always consider the merit of the application if it considers that the adult will refuse either to consent to the granting of the Assessment Order, or to comply with it.

The adult can be taken to, but not detained at, a place specified on the Order.

If entry is reasonably expected to be refused the Council Officer may apply to the Sheriff for a Warrant of Entry to be executed by a Police Officer.

4.17.2 Removal Order - A Removal Order allows the Council to remove the adult to a specified place in order to assess the situation and to support and protect them. An adult must only be taken to the place specified on the Order. The Removal Order requires the adult at risk to be returned to their own environment as soon as possible. A Removal Order is not primarily for a council interview or medical examination, therefore, if it is felt this would be more appropriate, consideration should be given to applying for an Assessment Order.

The Removal Order may only be used for very specific purposes, such as:-

- resolving issues between the adult and person suspected of harming;
- relieving carer stress;
- the prevention of serious harm.

An application must be based on the following grounds:-

- the adult is likely to be seriously harmed if not moved to another place; and
- there is a suitable place available to remove the adult to.

The council should present evidence that:

- voluntary approaches and/or other legislation have been considered;
- all other options have been explored and exhausted;
- the adult at risk is likely to be seriously harmed if not moved to another place;
- the place proposed is available and suitable;
- the action is in accordance with the principles of the Act.

If the adult has capacity to consent and has made known their refusal to consent, the council must prove the adult has been “unduly pressurised”.

A council is required to:

- notify the affected adult in writing of the application;
- inform the adult of their right to be heard or represented; or to be accompanied by a friend, relative or any other representative of choice;
- if appropriate, advise any other interested persons of the application.

An adult must be removed within 72 hours of the order being granted. A Removal Order will expire after 7 days (from the date the adult was removed). A council should request the shortest period possible, ensuring it provides benefit and the least restriction to the adult's wishes.

An adult cannot be returned home and removed again within the period of this Order. If the adult does not consent, then application may only be made if no steps could reasonably be taken with the adult's consent. The affected adult can be taken to, but not detained at, the place specified on the Order.

In emergency situations, a council can apply to Justice of the Peace on the basis that:

- the adult is likely to be seriously harmed if not moved to another place; and
- there is a suitable place available to remove the adult to;

- it is not practicable to make application to the sheriff; and
- an adult at risk is likely to be harmed if there is any delay in granting the Order.

Removal can take place within 12 hours of the Order being granted. The Order expires after 24 hours. A Council Officer should advise any person with interest in the adult's welfare of the removal. A Council Officer and the police have the right to enter premises to remove the adult.

The council may nominate another person to move the adult if appropriate. The nominee should be specified in the application.

The Council Officer must plan their actions:

- to minimise distress and risk to the adult;
- always on the basis of the principle of "least restrictive alternative",
- to keep the adult fully informed of rights, options, events having arranged where the adult is going to be removed to, as to how the removal is to be carried out, including transport arrangements and safeguarding of property.

The Sheriff (or Justice of the Peace) must grant a warrant that authorises a police constable to use reasonable force to achieve the purpose of the visit.

Wherever possible, entry to premises should first be attempted without force. The use of force is an absolute last resort, to be used in very exceptional circumstances, and only when all other options have been exhausted.

4.17.3 Banning Order - A Banning Order bans the subject of the Order from being in a specified place for up to 6 months. A Banning Order may be made by, or on behalf of, an adult at risk; any other person who is entitled to occupy the place concerned; or, in certain circumstances, the council. An application should only be made by the council if no other steps could reasonably be taken to prevent the adult from serious harm. If the adult has capacity and refuses to consent, the council must prove that the adult has been "unduly pressurised" to refuse to consent to the granting of an order.

A Sheriff may grant a Banning Order or Temporary Order only if satisfied that:

- an adult is being, or is likely to be, seriously harmed by another person;
- the adult's well-being or property would be better safeguarded by banning the other person from a place occupied by the adult than it would be by moving the adult from that place; and that:
- the adult is entitled to occupy the place from which the subject is to be banned; or
- neither the adult nor the subject is entitled to occupy the place from which the subject is to be banned.

An application for a Banning Order must be accompanied by a plan clearly identifying the place and area from which the subject is to be banned.

A Banning Order may:

- ban the subject from a specified area in the vicinity of the specified place;
- authorise ejection of the subject from the place and area;
- prohibit the subject from moving any specified thing from that place;

- direct any specified person to take measures to preserve the moveable property of the subject;
- have specified conditions; and
- require or authorise any person to do, or to refrain from doing, anything else which the sheriff thinks necessary for the proper enforcement of the order.

A child can be the subject of a Banning Order

Application for a Temporary Banning Order may be made where it is inadvisable to wait for a full hearing on a Banning Order application. If the adult is the applicant, it would be good practice for the council to assist with the application. A Temporary Banning Order expires on the date a banning order is made, the date on which it is recalled, or any specified expiry date.

Where the adult is entitled to occupy a place, her/his occupancy rights are not affected if her/his partner is banned from the place. Where the adult is a non-entitled spouse under the Matrimonial Homes \(Family Protection\) \(Scotland\) Act 1981, she/he still has rights to occupy the home from which the subject of the Order is banned.

If the adult is not entitled to occupy a place and the subject is entitled to occupy that place, the Act will not allow that subject to be banned.

Banning Orders may be used in respect of public places.

A Banning Order will last for:-

- any period up to a maximum of six months to be specified by the Sheriff;
- the shortest period possible in line with the principles of the Act;

A Banning or Temporary Banning Order may be recalled or varied.

A Sheriff can attach a power of arrest to the Banning or Temporary Banning Order if there is a likelihood of the subject breaching the conditions of the order. The power of arrest becomes effective only when served on the subject of the order and will expire at the same time as the order.

If conditions are breached the subject may be arrested without warrant:

- if the police reasonably suspects breach of the order; and
- they are likely to breach the order again if not arrested.

The police cannot simply arrest the subject for having breached the order alone.

If no power of arrest is attached to the original Order, application may subsequently be made to the Sheriff to attach a power of arrest.

Once granted, notification should be given to those involved as per the Code of Practice. As well as sending a copy of the Banning Order with power of arrest to the Chief Constable of Police Scotland, it is also good practice to inform local Officers of the order. This can be done by emailing a copy of the order to the Partnership Coordination Unit NorthEastPartnershipCoordinationUnit@scotland.pnn.police.uk

Section Five – Case Conferences

5.1 Adult Protection Case Conferences

Adult Protection Case Conferences are multi-agency meetings to determine if an adult is at risk of harm, evaluate risks and agree a protection/action plan. A Case Conference will be held where an investigation has determined that an adult is suspected to be at risk of harm. Where there is sufficient information to suggest that the adult is at risk of harm it may be appropriate to go directly to case conference without the need for investigation.

The adult and their family/carer/guardian should normally be invited to the Case Conference.

Confidentiality is required from each participant in Case Conferences. This should be made explicit at the beginning of the meeting. Information will be shared in line with the Information Sharing Protocol.

Consideration should be given to starting with a closed information sharing section, for professionals only (Pre-meet). This allows for information that cannot be disclosed to the adult or the representatives to be discussed. This information may include police disclosures, third party information, sensitive or distressing information, etc.

5.2 Outcome of an Adult Protection Case Conference

The Case Conference will confirm adult at risk status, assess risk and produce a protection/action plan. This will include, but not limited to, consideration of:

- any immediate action required to protect the adult.
- whether to apply for any formal ASP protection orders.
- Requirement for capacity assessment
- using other legislation (AWI / MHCT).
- contract compliance.
- training needs.
- what support may be required for the adult / family /carers and who will provide this what monitoring arrangements will be put in place.
- involvement of other agencies including but not limited to the Police, Health Services, Care Inspectorate, Mental Welfare Commission and the Office of the Public Guardian

Once a decision has been made on the support and protection considered necessary, the Case Conference chair will identify explicitly who will be responsible for completing tasks, timescales and sequence of events.

The case will continue to be subject of review until the risk has been removed or reduced to an acceptable level. A review date must be agreed within a maximum of 6 months of the original Case Conference.

Where there is no clear consensus regarding an assessment if a person is an adult at risk of harm, the Chair will use his or her professional judgement to make the final decision, based on an analysis of the issues raised.

5.3 Role of Chair

The Council will be responsible for organising the Adult Protection Case Conference. The Chair will be a designated Council Officer. The Chair of a Case Conference will be determined by each Council. The role of the Chair will be to:

- ensure that the time and venue are arranged and that all relevant people are invited and briefed about the purpose of the Case Conference, taking cognisance of any additional needs to enable the adult to participate fully in the meeting.
- ensure that a minute taker is identified.
- request appropriate reports from involved agencies, in a timely manner prior to the Case Conference.
- ensure that any necessary documentation is available to the participants.
- ensure that any communication aids/systems required (e.g. loop system, computer etc) are made available.
- follow the set agenda for the Case Conference.
- ensure that information exchanged conforms to agreed Grampian information sharing protocols.
- ensure a balanced discussion.
- ensure that the information has been correctly interpreted and understood by those at the Case Conference and that any disagreements are resolved at the time or noted in the minute, with reasons for the dissent detailed.

5.4 Involvement of the Adult/Family/Representatives

The adult and their family/carer/guardian should normally be invited to the Case Conference. All efforts should be made to facilitate their participation.

There may be occasions when an adult/family/representative may wish to be supported at the Case Conference by the attendance of a friend, other relative, professional person or member of an independent service, for example, Advocacy or Victim Support. The attendance of such a person, who may be able to assist in clarifying the content of the discussion, should be positively encouraged.

Where the adult is included in the Case Conference process a professional must be identified as being responsible for explaining the content of the Case Conference, both before and after, to ensure that the adult is able to understand the purpose and process.

There may be occasions where it is not appropriate for the adult to attend. The chair should take into account the adult's consent and capacity, the information likely to be shared, the effect of this information on the adult and the views of others who know the adult.

Where the adult and their family/representative have been excluded from the Case Conference, the Chair must ensure agreement is reached as to what, if any, information is shared with them and that any decisions of the Case Conference are fed back to them as soon as practicable.

The adult also has the right to refuse to attend, despite the best efforts at support and encouragement. It is important that the adult does not feel pressurised, however the possibility of undue influence affecting the adult's hesitancy to participate should be considered. In all cases where the adult is not attending the views of the adult should be sought and recorded in advance of the meeting and another individual should represent those views, such as an advocacy worker or other designated person. The reason for the adult not being present needs to be recorded as part of the minute of the meeting. The method for giving the adult feedback from the meeting (including explaining fully to the adult what options were considered, what decisions were taken and why) should also be recorded.

5.5 Exclusion of Family/Representative

It is expected that the family/representative be involved in the case conference unless there are substantive grounds to believe that the involvement of family/representative would undermine the process and purpose of the Case Conference. The adult may ask that the family/representative be excluded, if the adult has the capacity to make this decision.

Grounds for exclusion of the family/representative would be when:

- a level of conflict or tension exists involving the family/representative; or
- there is substantive evidence to believe that there is a likelihood of serious disruption to the Case Conference.

If family/representative is suspected of causing harm, this may not be sufficient reason in itself to exclude them.

Where family/representative have information or view that are relevant to the case conference attempts should be made to facilitate their involvement i.e. separate attendance from adult/ view gained prior to meeting.

Where the family/representative has been excluded from the Case Conference it is the responsibility of the Chair to ensure that they are informed of the outcome, if appropriate.

5.6 Minutes

The Chair is responsible for ensuring the accuracy of the minutes.

The minutes must be made available within 14 days of the Case Conference to all who were invited, together with a copy of the Adult Support and Protection Plan (if applicable). The minute and the Plan must also be made available to any other professional actively involved in the adult's support.

The Chair will confirm if the adult/family/representative should receive a copy of the minute, taking into account the confidentiality and sensitivity of the information contained within them.

Third party restricted information should not be shared within the minute. Any concerns in relation to sharing information should be determined with reference to the Information Sharing Protocol.

If a pre-meet has occurred a separate minute will be produced and circulated to those in attendance.

Section Six – Roles and Responsibilities

6.1 Role of the Council

The Council is the lead agency for adult protection and has the primary responsibility for investigating any adult protection issue relating to adults at risk of harm within its area. All concerns must be reported to the Council who will coordinate any subsequent inquiries/investigations with partner agencies.

Adult Protection Units/Networks operate in Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire and Moray. These units are responsible for co-ordinating adult protection functions on behalf of the council.

Local guidance regarding the role of adult protection units is available for council officers using the links below:

- Aberdeen City - http://thezone/directorate_zone/social_care_and_wellbeing/sw/as/ASP_main_page.asp
- Aberdeenshire - <https://arcadia.ad.aberdeenshire.gov.uk/services/Pages/Health%20and%20Social%20Care/Adult%20Services/Adult%20Support%20and%20Protection/Default.aspx>
- Moray - http://www.moray.gov.uk/moray_standard/page_95357.html

6.2 Role of Council Officers

Certain functions under the Act can only be carried out by a designated Council Officer. Council Officers are required to be council or health board employees with the appropriate professional registration. Council officers will have completed Module 3 and 4 of ASP training and have 12 months post qualifying experience of identifying, assessing and managing adults at risk.

To fulfil their responsibilities under the Act a Council Officer has the right to:

- To enter a place where an adult is known or believed to be at risk of harm and a place adjacent to this if required;
- To interview, in private, any adult found at the place being visited
- To request a medical examination by a medical professional, in private, of an adult known or believed to be at risk.
- To request and examine financial and other records relating to an adult at risk
- To request examination of health records
- To take any action which is reasonably required in order to fulfil the purpose of the visit including:
 - to examine the place being visited;
 - to take any equipment or any other person into the place;
- To implement Assessment Orders and Removal Orders granted by a Sheriff;
- To take action to protect the property of an adult subject to a removal order, including if necessary moving the property to another place.

6.3 Role of the Police

The Police will refer all concerns brought to their attention, through submission of a Police Concern Report, where an adult is known or believed to be at risk of harm under the Act to the Council.

Where there is an allegation of criminality the Police will take the lead in the investigation and fulfil their duty to report criminal offences/crimes to the Procurator Fiscal in the usual manner.

The Police will co-operate with the Council as part of an adult protection inquiry or investigation when required. Information and records regarding the adult will be provided when requested under the Act. On receipt of a request submitted through an approved process, information will also be provided on those who are suspected of perpetrating the harm.

The Police will co-ordinate any forensic medical examination where a crime is suspected.

6.4 Role of NHS

The NHS will report all cases where an adult is considered to be at risk of harm. to the Council and agree how to proceed with the investigation e.g. single agency lead, joint etc.

NHS staff will co-operate with the Council when they are making inquiries about an adult and with each other where that would assist the Council. This will include sharing appropriate health records.

A doctor may be asked to conduct a medical examination and a nurse or midwife may be asked to carry out an examination (if it is within their competence and confidence) under the Act during a visit or as part of an Assessment Order. They may also be asked by a Council Officer to examine health records. Information and records regarding the adult will be provided when requested under the Act, with information being shared in line with the Information Sharing Protocol.

6.5 Role of GPs

GPs have a key role to play in adult protection. They may be the first professional to see signs of potential harm, and are crucial not only in helping to protect adults, but also in helping to develop effective multi-agency responses. The Scottish Government produced Guidance on the Involvement of GPs in Multi-Agency Protection Arrangements.

There are four main ways in which GPs are most likely to be involved in adult protection:

- reporting concerns when they identify possible adult protection cases;
- carrying out medical examinations when requested to do so by a council undertaking action under the Act. Medical examinations may be carried out by the patients GP for the purposes of assessment and/or treatment for a physical illness or mental disorder. As is indicated elsewhere in this policy/procedure, more specialist or targeted investigations should only be undertaken by a doctor with the appropriate level of competence and training e.g. forensic medical practitioner, consultant psychiatrist etc. It should also be noted that other health professionals may be more appropriate to conduct some examinations (nurses, midwives etc).

- providing relevant information from healthcare records to a Council Officer who is carrying out certain functions under the Act. GPs considering a request for information under the Act must take account of the confidentiality of the patient and should discuss the request with the adult to ensure they understand the reasons for it and the likely benefits. Often, where the adult is competent, they will have already agreed to action being taken on their behalf. However, even where consent has not been granted to share information with relevant agencies, GPs are under a legal obligation to provide relevant records under section 10 of the Act.
- participating in other activity subsequent to action being taken under the Act, such as attending IRD's or case conferences, where they are the most appropriate health care professional. This could include providing reports and, on rare occasions, providing evidence during court proceedings.

6.6 Role of Care Inspectorate

The Care Inspectorate will report all cases where an adult is considered to be at risk of harm to the council and agree how to proceed with the investigation e.g. single agency lead, joint etc. If a crime is suspected, then the Care Inspectorate must ensure the police are notified at the earliest opportunity.

Where harm is suspected or alleged to have occurred in a registered service the role of the Care Inspectorate will be to:

- Assist the council and police in their enquiries.
- Attend Adult Protection Case Conferences and Large Scale Investigations.
- Assess what, if any, regulatory action needs to be taken.
- Liaise with the council/police, to make sure that the outcome of any investigation is reflected in their ongoing regulatory duties and activities.

Where it is found that a service is operating in a manner which fails to adequately protect adults, the Care Inspectorate will consider whether enforcement action is required. Such enforcement action may include the imposition of conditions on registration, serving an improvement notice, or making application for a Section 18 cancellation of registration.

The Care Inspectorate will be informed of the outcome of any adult protection investigation as soon as possible.

6.7 Role of Independent and Third Sector Providers

While independent organisations do not have specific legal duties or powers under the Act, care providers have a responsibility to involve themselves with the Act where appropriate by making referrals, assisting inquiries and through the provision of services to support people at risk of harm. These organisations should discuss and share information they have about adults who may be at risk of harm with the council. These organisations along with user and carer groups may also be a source of advice and expertise for statutory agencies working with adults with disabilities, communication difficulties or other needs.

Organisations will have a legal duty to comply with requests for examination of records.

Organisations that are commissioned by the council need to ensure they are compliant with adult protection provisions as stated in their contract.

6.8 Role of Advocacy

The Act places a duty on councils to consider the provision of appropriate services to an adult. This includes independent advocacy services.

Independent advocacy supports people:

- to express their own needs;
- to gain access to information;
- to explore and understand the options available;
- to make informed decisions.

6.9 Staff Support

Working in the field of Adult Protection can be very rewarding, but can also be very challenging and demanding. Some of the more complex investigations and inquiries can be particularly difficult and may take a toll on members of staff who are involved. For this reason it is essential that all agencies ensure that staff involved in Adult Protection work are offered appropriate support. Staff undertaking adult protection work should receive formal 1:1 supervision from their first line manager or other appropriate superior. In addition, appropriate debriefing opportunities should be made available following particularly challenging, traumatic or complex situations. These can be tailored to be delivered on a 1:1 basis but consideration should be given to the benefits of multi-agency debriefing sessions, where appropriate. Peer support within and between agencies should be encouraged and facilitated, where necessary. Agencies should also ensure that staff are aware of independent, confidential support and counselling should they wish to use this.

Police - Police Scotland Officers and Staff have access to the Employee Assistance Programme (EAP), that offers support on a variety of everyday issues, including counselling support which aims to help with anxiety, stress, trauma or bereavement related issues. This can be accessed 24 / 7. In addition there is access to a trauma focussed peer support system (TRiM), designed to help people following direct involvement in potentially traumatic incidents.

6.10 Role of Adult Protection Committees

The Act places a duty on each Council in Scotland to establish an Adult Protection Committee. The Adult Protection Committee (APC) has responsibility for:

- monitoring and advising on adult protection procedures
- making sure there is appropriate cooperation between agencies, and

- improving the skills and knowledge of those with a responsibility for the protection of adults at risk.

There is a legal requirement for the Committee to have members from the Local Authority, Police Scotland and the local NHS health board. Other members are in attendance as both they and the organisation they represent have the skills and knowledge to support the functions of the Committee.

APCs aim to:

- Make sure staff, partners and the public's knowledge of adult protection legislation is evaluated and effective training is developed.
- Raise awareness by giving information and advice to professionals and the wider community.
- Develop, review and audit procedures for inter-agency working to protect adults at risk.
- Develop, review and audit policies and strategies for protecting adults at risk.
- Develop and introduce arrangements to audit and disseminate local activity with regard to protecting of adult at risk.
- Consult with people who use the service and the public about inter-agency services for the protection of adults at risk.
- Develop links and promote joint working with relevant organisations and groups.

Each APC is chaired by an Independent Convenor. The Convenors do not work for any of the agencies involved with adult support and protection and are therefore able to operate independently.

6.11 Role of Grampian Adult Protection Group

Grampian Adult Protection Group is a permanent subgroup of the Adult Protection Committees in Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire and Moray. The role of the Grampian Group is to undertake a co-ordinating role on behalf of these APCs where work identified, is agreed to be a cross Grampian priority. It will also encourage and promote joint working and the sharing of good practice across the multi-disciplinary context. The Grampian Group will provide the opportunity for the identification, and debate, of ASP matters that affect, or are of interest to, each of the APCs.

This group has standing sub-groups relating to training and financial harm. Other groups are convened as necessary as short life working groups to address specific needs. A standing group that looks at learning from 'non-Grampian' Significant Case Reviews (SCR) convenes as such SCR's arise.

6.12 Case Reviews

The purpose of a case review is to establish whether there are lessons to be learned about how better to support and protect adults at risk of harm – reviews should be viewed as a process for learning and improving public protection. Case reviews are undertaken in line with the Grampian Serious Case Review and Case Review Protocol.

Any agency can ask for a case to be considered for review by an APC. Referrals should be made via the agency's lead representative on the APC. A family cannot ask for a review, any concerns raised by families should be addressed through relevant agencies' normal complaints procedures.

A serious case review should be considered when;

- an adult at risk of harm dies or
- an adult at risk of harm has not died but has sustained significant harm or has been at risk of significant harm or
- serious concerns have been raised about inter-agency working.

A Serious Case Review is not an inquiry into how an adult died or suffered injury or who is culpable. The case under review will be used to make recommendations to improve policies and procedures and further the learning of those involved in the adult and support and protection process.

6.13 Feedback from Adults at Risk/Carers

Gaining feedback from adults and carers on the different stages of the ASP process is vital for learning what works, what we could do better and whether our approach to risk management supports the adult and their carer to make choices and live safely and independently.

Getting useful user feedback can be tricky but continuous collaboration and giving each service user a feeling of participation is essential for improving their user experiences and satisfaction and can be a key driver to improving our own skills and services.

Advocacy Services can help the service user and/or their carer who have been or are going through the local adult support and protection process to express their views and needs effectively and support people to understand and to have their say.

Lead agencies and practitioners must consider the experiences of adults and carers to ensure their views are being heard and rights are respected. Provide the information that people need when there is an investigation into alleged abuse e.g., when to involve an advocate and how to access advocacy services so that they are able to make choices and participate in decisions about their lives and talk about whether the value of the adult's own outcomes was acknowledged and adhered to.

Section Seven – Legislation

7.1 Introduction

All adults, at risk of harm or not, and having capacity or not, enjoy the same legal rights and should be treated accordingly. Identifying that an adult is at risk of harm is no justification for overriding or ignoring these rights.

The distinction in law is made between those adults who are capax (capable of managing their affairs) and those who are not. Until an adult is recognised in law as being incapable of managing their affairs or making decisions about their own welfare, no care agency can intervene in an action, behaviour or relationship because they deem it to be unsuitable or harmful.

The statutory powers and duties of any care agency are underpinned by the Human Rights Legislation. This works both ways so that, as well as protecting an individual's right to live his or her life peaceably and without fear, an agency must also (within reason) respect the manner in which the individual chooses to live her/his life. Where an individual has the capacity to express her/his free will, care agencies can do no more than give information about services and, where appropriate, help the adult to take up those services/options. They should not direct an individual to use these services in a manner that might be regarded as coercive.

This document focuses on the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007 and its related Code of Practice (2014). Other legislation is equally important in the protection of adults at risk and should be referred to in the protection of adults at risk.

The legislative framework provides further information on legislation relevant to work with adults in need of support and protection. Legislation can and will change and therefore Council Officers should alert the Council's Legal Advisor/Solicitor at the earliest opportunity where it is likely that an Order under any legislation will be required.

7.2 Adult Support & Protection (Scotland) Act 2007

The main provisions of the Act create measures to protect adults who are believed to be at risk of harm. These include: rights of entry to places where adults are thought to be at risk of harm; a range of protection orders including assessment, removal of the adult at risk, and banning the person causing the harm; and the creation of multi-disciplinary Adult Protection Committees. The Act states that councils have the lead responsibility for adult protection. The principles of the Act apply to any public body or office holder undertaking a function under the Act. Therefore a public body or guardian must be able to demonstrate that the principles have been applied to their decision making and intervention.

The overarching principles of the Act state that a public body or officer holder must be satisfied that an intervention:

- will provide benefit to the adult which could not reasonably be provided without intervening in the adult's affairs: and
- is, of the range of options likely to fulfil the object of the intervention, the least restrictive to the adult's freedom.

The guiding principles of the Act state public bodies or office holders must have regard to:

- the adult's ascertainable wishes and feelings (past and present);
- any views of the adult's nearest relative; any primary carer, guardian or attorney of the adult; and any other person who has an interest in the adult's well-being or property;
- the importance of the adult participating as fully as possible in the performance of the function and providing the adult with such information and support as is necessary to enable the adult to participate;
- the importance of the adult not being, without justification, treated less favourably than the way in which a person who is not an adult at risk of harm would be treated in a comparable situation;
- the adult's abilities, background and characteristics.

To summarise, the Act states that intervention must provide benefit to the adult and be least restrictive to the adult's freedom and, if relevant, have regard to:

- the wishes and feelings of the adult;
- any views of the adult's nearest relative, primary carer, guardian, attorney or other person, who has an interest;
- the importance of the adult participating as fully as possible and providing her/him with such information and support to enable them to participate;
- ensuring that the adult is not treated less favourably than any other adult in a comparable situation; and
- the adult's abilities, background and characteristics.

It should be noted that several groups of people are not bound by the principles of the Act including " the adult; the adult's nearest relative; the primary carer; an independent advocate; the adult's legal representative; and any guardian or attorney of the adult"

7.3 Working across Legislation

The Adult Support and Protection, Adults with Incapacity and Mental Health Acts all contain information that relate and can be used to protect adults at risk of harm. Comparisons can be made in relation to:

- Definitions of those covered.
- Principles.
- Duties to inquire and investigate.
- Potential intervention.

(Legislation Framework and Working Across Legislation Flowchart)

Consideration should be given as to which legislation would be most effective and least restrictive to the adult at risk. Council Officers should seek advice from the Council's Legal Advisor/Solicitor to enable a full assessment of the legal options available.

Section Eight – Challenges Faced in Adult Protection

The protection of adults raises a variety of complex issues for individuals and agencies alike. There may be a number of issues which must be considered within the context of each case. Some of these are discussed in more detail below.

8.1 Risk Taking/Rights/Self Determination

Concern over risk taking can stifle and constrain providers of care, leading to an inappropriate restriction of the individual's rights. There is a challenge for people working with adults at risk of harm to define a way forward where they are able to take calculated risks.

All decisions must be based on informed choice and the measures taken to address the risk must be proportionate to the likely outcome and least restrictive.

In addition to the overarching principles, public bodies or other office holders must have regard to:

- the adult's ascertainable wishes and feelings (past and present);
- any views of the adult's nearest relatives, primary carers, guardian or attorneys and any other person who has an interest in the adult's well-being or property;
- the importance of:
 - the adult participating as fully as possible in the performance of the function; and
 - providing the adult with such information and support as is necessary to enable the adult to participate;
- the importance of the adult not being, without justification, treated less favourably than the way in which a person who is not an adult at risk of harm would be treated in a comparable situation; and
- the adult's abilities, background and characteristics.

There is a tendency to believe that adults at risk of harm should be protected and that their right to choose is secondary to this. This is not the case; adults at risk are individuals and, if they are deemed to have capacity, and if there is no evidence of undue pressure, they must be allowed to exercise their rights, even if that means they choose to remain in a situation some people would consider inappropriate or harmful. If there remain uncertainty around their capacity the decision specific screening tool (see Section 4.4) can be used to evidence decision making. Every effort should be made to inform the adult of the consequences of the choice she/he may be making and to offer viable alternatives. This should include reviewing existing support arrangements.

8.2 Consent/Confidentiality/Disclosure

It is recognised that staff may feel that, by referring concern and sharing information, could alienate the adult and/or the family and relinquish the potential for preventative work. To do nothing or to promise absolute confidentiality and then report the concern is not acceptable. The recommended procedure is to openly and honestly discuss, with the adult and/or family/guardian/carer, the intention to report the information given and to advise them of the possible consequences. If this is not possible it is still your responsibility to refer concerns to the appropriate Council or to the police if a crime is suspected.

The Council undertakes that information passed to them as part of an Adult Protection Investigation will be treated as confidential and not shared without discussion with the agency initially in receipt of the information.

8.3 Challenging Behaviour/Restraint

Some adults present challenging behaviour that needs to be managed either in a hospital or other care setting, but it can apply in domiciliary care and supported living situations too. For example, any person who has a learning disability, dementia or other mental disorder may become frightened or distressed and behave in a way that poses a risk to themselves or others or could lead to the adult behaving aggressively or refusing treatment. This brings with it several dilemmas including the use of restraint and disguising someone's medication in their food and drink. Restraint is potentially frightening and humiliating and should always be a last resort intervention where there is absolutely no alternative that would reduce an identified, specific risk to the adult to an acceptable level. The practice of restraint must only be applied under clear guidelines and in the light of the general principles that apply to the use of restraint in any setting.

Care providers must have their own policies in place to reduce the use of restraint and should consider the guidance in the preparation of these policies as well as the standards produced in Scotland by the National Care Standards Committee. However, the primary emphasis should always be in using communication skills and de-escalation techniques that are effective. When challenging behaviour is such that restrictions are placed on an individual's freedom of movement and liberty health and social care providers must make sure that:

- restrictive intervention complies with the law and the relevant care regulations and guidelines.
- it is only used when there is a clear and unequivocal benefit to the adult.
- it must be the least restrictive in relation to the person's freedom to achieve the desired benefit.
- it is subject to careful monitoring and review
- the risk must be of a degree that justifies such a major intervention in the adult's life.
- even if restraint is justified, it must not be longer, or involve more force than is reasonably necessary.

Any action undertaken to manage an adult with challenging behaviour which is excessive or unnecessary could be deemed an assault as well as a breach of human rights and potentially lead to an allegation of harm or prosecution. Any decision regarding the use of restraint or control should be fully discussed on a multi-disciplinary basis with other professionals and representatives such as a relative, advocacy workers, welfare attorneys and guardians. Managers and staff need to be fully informed of restraint procedures and records must be kept showing the reasons for using restraint, risk and benefits assessment and the name of the person authorising it. Best practice would be to have a specific Support Plan or Protection Plan detailing the restrictive interventions that is accessible to relatives and inspection teams.

Restraint procedures require to be taught effectively and should only be carried out by staff who have been trained in both restrictive and non-restrictive methods of care. Incorrect use of restraint techniques can lead to injuries and it is completely unacceptable that the use of restraint increases the overall risk to an individual.

How can treatment lawfully be provided to adult who lack the capacity to consent to treatment and understand a treatment plan?

Part 5 of the Adults with Incapacity (Scotland) 2000 Act means that provided a certificate of incapacity is issued for the treatment in question and provided the general principles of the Act are observed, the treatment may be given.

When an adult with a mental illness, learning disability, or related condition makes him or her a risk to others and the person's ability to take treatment decisions is significantly impaired the use of compulsory powers under the Mental Health (Care and Treatment) (Scotland) Act 2003 may be required.

8.4 Allegations of Harm Against Workers

It is possible that an allegation of harm may be made against a worker from statutory, third sector and private organisations. These allegations can be made either formally or informally, by whatever means, by a family member, member of the public or by a 'Whistle-blowing' member of staff. It may be necessary for the organisation to regard it as a formal complaint and initiate an investigation into the worker's alleged behaviour through the organisation's own conduct procedures (concurrent with the Adult Protection Procedures e.g Individual Investigations, LSI's).

It is essential, in these circumstances, to keep sight of all relevant procedures and not confuse the issues, for example, protection of the adult at risk of harm with Human Resources, Criminal and/or Care Inspectorate Proceedings.

Mindful of potential of conflict and bias that results for investigating own or partnership agencies where harm is suspected. Decision making on how to proceed should be sought at a senior level.

8.5 Problematic Alcohol and Drug Use

Some adult protection concerns involve those who use / misuse substances and / or alcohol.

Adults have the right to make choices and decisions about their lives, including the use of alcohol and drugs, even if that means they choose to remain in situations or indulge in behaviour which others consider harmful.

Some people may have initially made a choice to live in such a way however their problematic use of drugs or alcohol may take place alongside, or contribute to, a physical or mental illness, mental disorder or a condition such as alcohol related brain damage. If this is the case, an adult may be considered an "adult at risk". It must be stressed, however, that it is the co-existing illness, disability or frailty, which would trigger adult protection considerations, rather than the substance use itself.

The co-existence of alcohol/substance misuse with any other vulnerability can be challenging to disentangle and can be a barrier to diagnosis of specific disorders or assessment of capacity. Multi-agency discussion, assessment and review is essential in such cases.

In addition, because any underlying condition may deteriorate with ongoing alcohol or drug use, inquiries should be considered each time an adult protection referral is made and no assumption should be made about the adult's condition on the information gathered during a previous inquiry.

An assessment that intervention under the Act is not necessary does not absolve authorities of responsibility to consider intervention under other legislation, such as the NHS and Community Care (Scotland) Act 1990, or to offer other services. Actions taken or the reason for no action taken should be recorded. Consideration should be given to practical and emotional support provided by social work, health, and independent and third sector and private sector providers. For example the provision of mainstream health and social care services such as housing, independent living, financial, occupational therapy, counselling, support for carers, and Health and Social Care Partnerships.

8.6 Dispute Resolution

Should any dispute or difference arise, agencies will commit to resolving such dispute or difference as quickly as possible to ensure that the main functions of the adult protection process continues to be undertaken effectively.

Disputes around individual cases will be dealt with and resolved within statutory agencies' normal communication and governance processes.

8.7 Cross Boundary Working

If more than one Council is involved with an adult, because the adult lives in a different place from their home address, the Council where the adult lives will lead any investigation. Relevant professionals from the other Council must be informed and their views considered.

8.8 Children in Transition

In Scotland an individual becomes an adult when they reach 16 years of age.

Where a concern is noted about an adult who is 16 years or over, the concern must be reported to the appropriate adult council service (Useful Contact Details).

The council should then carry out appropriate checks on CareFirst to establish if other Social Work Services are involved.

The definition of an adult at risk includes people aged 16 and over with disabilities and or mental disorders, illness, or physical or mental infirmity and who are at risk of harm from themselves or others. Adult Protection practitioners should pay particular attention to the needs and risks experienced by young people in transition from youth to adulthood, who are more vulnerable to harm than others. As other legislation and provisions relating to children exist which include persons up to 26, support under these other provisions may be more appropriate for some young persons.

Each Council Area has its own protocols/guidance relating to young people in transition and these should be referred to. Where there is a cross over in legislation protocols and services being provided, discussion will occur between the Adult and Children services as to which service is most appropriate to lead necessary inquiries.

The outcome of any decisions and/or investigations must be clearly recorded and the implications of any concerns relating to younger siblings must be considered.

Section Nine – Public Protection

9.1 Links to Other Public Protection Workstreams

During adult protection work there may be instances where it overlaps with other public protection workstreams. These must be borne in mind in any investigation. Detailed guidance is available from your own organisation.

Child Protection

Children can be abused in different ways. They can be physically injured, for example by punching, hitting, slapping, biting, kicking, being burned or cut. They can also be abused sexually, which means that they have experienced inappropriate sexual behaviour or language. Emotional abuse, where a child is constantly criticised, ignored or humiliated, also causes harm. Neglect is another form of abuse, where a child is not properly fed, clothed or sheltered or kept clean.

MAPPA

The Management of Offenders \(Scotland\) Act 2005 introduced a statutory responsibility on the local responsible authorities to put in place joint arrangements for the identification, assessment and management of risk posed by certain groups of offenders. The responsible authorities are the council, police, health board and the Scottish Prison Service.

The arrangements are currently 'live' in respect of registered sex offenders and restricted hospital patients.

Gender Based Violence

Domestic or partner abuse covers a range of abusive behaviour that may occur in any close relationship. It happens across society regardless of age, gender, disability, education and ethnicity. Although mainly affecting women, men can also be victims.

The abuse can be:

- physical - being pushed, hit, kicked, attacked or threatened with an object
- sexual - being raped, sexually assaulted, forced to take part in degrading or unwanted sexual activities
- emotional - being verbally abused, criticised, degraded or controlled

Other forms of Gender Based Violence include Female Genital Mutilation, Honour Based Violence and Forced Marriage.

Prevent

Prevent encompasses a number of initiatives aimed at protecting and supporting individuals, particularly those who are vulnerable, from being drawn into terrorism.

Anyone is potentially susceptible to becoming radicalised, particularly those who have a sense of injustice, who feel isolated or not listened to. Prevent is concerned with preventing people taking part in criminal activity relating to terrorism.

Often the signs of someone becoming radicalised relates to changes in behaviour which can be expressed environmentally, emotionally, verbally or physically. When a person has concerns they should notice the changes, check your concerns out with others it and share them.

Where there are concerns about an individual becoming radicalised a referral to Police Scotland's Prevent Delivery Unit can be made. Thereafter a Prevent Multi Agency Panel (PMAP) may be called. The process adopts a multi-agency approach to identify and provide support to individuals who are at risk of being drawn into terrorism.

PMAP's can run in parallel with, but must not be replaced by, Adult Protection meetings if relevant thresholds have been met. The PMAP chair should ensure that the appropriate professionals involved in those adult protection meetings also attend the PMAP to share information and align processes.

Section Ten – Glossary of Terms

- Advocacy: is about enabling people to be heard, helping them to express their views and assisting them to make their own decisions and contributions. Contact with the appropriate advocacy service can be made through the Council or NHS Grampian. Independent advocacy is not provided by a Council, or NHS Board or a member of the Council or NHS Board. The adult should not be expected to pay for advocacy services.
- APC: Adult Protection Committee
- Capacity: the ability to make a particular informed decision.
- A carer is someone who, without pay, provides care, help and assistance to someone else who is disabled, frail or unwell and may be a spouse, relative, neighbour or friend.
- Care Inspectorate: The Commission for the Regulation of Care (Care Inspectorate) has a number of duties which are specified in the Public Services Reform \(Scotland\) Act 2010.
- Cuckooing: is when criminals target the home of vulnerable person, often so they can use the property for criminal purposes such as drug-dealing, hiding weapons and other criminal activities. A criminal will often befriend a vulnerable person in order to exploit them and use their property. The person is usually intimidated and too scared to report it to anyone.
- Information Sharing Protocol: sets out the procedure for sharing personal / sensitive information between partner organisations.
- Line Manager/Supervisor: the person who has managerial responsibility for an individual worker.
- Mental Disorder: Mental Illness or Personality Disorder or Learning Disability (however caused or manifested).
- Mental Welfare Commission: a national body appointed by the Scottish Executive to oversee and protect the rights of those with a mental disorder. The Mental Welfare Commission has a duty to investigate any complaint it receives concerning the welfare of anyone with a mental disorder.
- Office of the Public Guardian: Senior Manager within the Scottish Court Service who keeps public registers of those with functions under the Adults with Incapacity Act, grants authority in some cases and supervises those with financial powers.
- SCR – Serious Case Review.
- Social Care: a range of settings, statutory and voluntary, including care homes and care at home, where vulnerable people are looked after or assisted with their essential living tasks.

- Whistle-blowing: a means by which staff can safely raise their concerns within their organisation about matters of suspected or actual malpractice. This allows an individual to bypass the formal line management arrangements if necessary.
- Working or Volunteering: for the purpose of this Policy and associated Procedure this includes anyone who is in a social care setting

Good Practice Guidelines

WORKING DRAFT: VERSION 10 APRIL 2015

Background

What is Adult Support and Protection?

The Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007 details measures to identify and to provide support and protection, for adults at risk of harm, whether as a result of their own or someone else's conduct.

Who are the people at risk?

People aged 16 and over who:

- Are unable to safeguard their own well-being, property, rights or other interests; and
- Are at risk of harm; and
- Because they are affected by disability, mental disorder, illness or physical or mental infirmity, are more vulnerable to being harmed than others who are not so affected

What is harm?

Harm may be:

- Physical
- Neglect or acts of omission
- Financial or material
- Sexual
- Psychological
- Discriminatory or information abuse

Harm may happen anywhere, including in the person's own home

Who might cause harm?

Adults may be harmed by a wide range of people, including relatives and family members; professional staff; paid care workers; volunteers; other service users; neighbours; friends; people who deliberately exploit vulnerable people.

Grampian Interagency Policy and Procedure for the Support and Protection of Adults at Risk of Harm.

The Grampian Interagency Policy and Procedure for the Support and Protection of Adults at Risk of Harm applies in all settings, including when care and support is delivered to the adult at home, as well as managed care settings across health and social care in the statutory, voluntary and private sectors.

1. Purpose of guidance

Thresholds in the field of Adult Support and Protection have been a much discussed issue, particularly since the implementation of the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007. Whilst the Act provides clear definitions of an Adult at Risk and harmful behaviour there remain situations that are 'borderline' where the distinction between a more general concern about care/support and an Adult Support and Protection matter may be unclear.

This guidance looks at such 'borderline' concerns and whether what has occurred should be dealt with as 'harm', when Adult Support and Protection (ASP) procedures should be applied.

These guidelines are intended to assist managers in determining whether the concern is an example of poor practice which requires action by the care organisation or if it is possible harm which requires to be reported and Adult Support and Protection procedures instigated. The document will assist with the decision making process alongside good practice and professional judgment.

It is not intended to be used to decide whether to report a possible adult protection concern. There is a legal duty to report any adult protection concerns to the Local Authorities where it is believed or known that an adult at risk of harm is in need of protection.

These guidelines relate to all settings, including when care and support is delivered to the adult at home as well as managed care settings across health and social care in the statutory, voluntary and private sectors.

2. Matters for consideration

Determining whether or not an Adult at Risk has been harmed can often be straightforward, however this is not always the case. A judgment may be required as to whether an act or act of omission has caused harm. In some cases it can be the repetition of minor actions or omissions that collectively will amount to harmful conduct.

The expectation in the Grampian policy is if in doubt report. It is very important that the Grampian ASP procedures are triggered if there is a possibility of harm. Some very serious harm only comes to light because people raising the alert have drawn the attention of Social Work Services or Police to what may appear to be relatively minor concerns.

Some types of harm (e.g. physical or sexual) may be obvious in regards to triggering ASP procedures, whilst other types can be less tangible (e.g. some forms of neglect and psychological harm).

In considering these issues it is helpful to view harmful behaviour and practice as a continuous spectrum rather than isolated events. There is evidence that poor practice, if not challenged and dealt with, may deteriorate into a further lowering of standards and systemic failings. Whilst an initial concern may be seen as 'low level' on a continuum of harm, failure to respond could result in longer term difficulties or serious harm to adults at risk.

Incidents between two adults at risk of harm are a particularly challenging issue for both providers and agencies. However, it is important to recognise that anyone can harm an adult at risk, including another adult at risk. Harmful conduct can occur without deliberate intent. Whilst this guidance does not intend to blame other adults with care needs, those incidents involving two (or more) adults at risk of harm should still be reported as ASP referrals. This applies in all situations, whether or not there are potential capacity issues.

The table below can assist with the decision making process.

3. Examples

The table outlines two examples of standards of behaviour and the response which they could elicit. It must be remembered that these are guidelines only. If staff believe that, due to other circumstances, behaviours which are included in Column 1, should be referred to Adult Protection then as per the Grampian Interagency Policy and Guidelines, that member of staff will make the referral. Staff should feel supported, during and after this decision making process.

The column to the left suggests situations which can be dealt with by action by the care organisation, whereas the column on the right gives examples of situations which have crossed the threshold and should be responded to through ASP procedures. This is not an exhaustive list and each situation requires careful consideration and professional judgment.

The term 'Adult at Risk' could mean one or more persons.

	Examples of Poor practice which requires action by a care organisation e.g. care home, hospital ward or care at home service	Possible harm which requires reporting and the instigation of Adult Support and Protection procedures.
1	Adult at Risk does not have within their Care Plan/Service Delivery Plan/Treatment Plan a section which addresses a significant assessed need such as <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Management of behaviour to protect self or others. • Liquid diet because of swallowing difficulty. • Bed sides to prevent falls and injuries but no harm occurs.	Failure to specify in a patient/client's Plan how a significant need must be met. 4. Reporting to Adult Protection

For any professionals and organisations that are considering reporting adult protection concerns, the clearest guidance is to report if you are in any doubt. Advice and support is always available directly from adult protection staff.

ASP is everyone's responsibility and staff in statutory organisations have a legal duty to report.

ASP concerns should be referred using the Grampian ASP reporting form to the local adult protection unit/network, where the adult at risk is resident. The contact telephone numbers and secure email addresses are listed below.

	Please return the form by secure email to:	To discuss, please call:
Aberdeen City	adultprotectionunit@aberdeencity.gov.uk	0800 731 5520
Aberdeenshire	adultprotectionnetwork@aberdeenshire.gov.uk	01467 533100
Moray	accesscareteam@moray.gov.uk	01343 563999

With thanks and acknowledgement this guidance has been influenced by the Forth Valley "Thresholds Good Practice Guidelines" (October 2012) that is used by staff working in Adult Protection Units to determine whether an adult protection response is required to concerns raised.

The above organisations will be hereafter referred to as 'the partnership organisations'.

2. PURPOSE AND SCOPE

2.1 This protocol sets out the procedure for sharing information between the partnership organisations in respect of adults who are known, or suspected to be, at risk of harm, otherwise known as “Adults at Risk”.

For the purposes of this protocol, an “Adult at Risk” is defined as an adult Aged 16 years or older who meets the criteria below:

- is unable to safeguard their own well-being, property, rights or other interests, and
- is at risk of harm, and
- because they are affected by disability, mental disorder, illness or physical or mental infirmity, are more vulnerable to being harmed than adults who are not so affected¹.

For the purposes of this protocol the definition of “harm” is that defined in section 53 of the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007 (“the 2007 Act”), namely;
“All harmful conduct and, in particular, includes-

- (a) conduct which causes physical harm
- (b) conduct which causes psychological harm (for example: causing fear, alarm or distress),
- (c) unlawful conduct which appropriates or adversely effects property, rights or interests (for example: theft, fraud, embezzlement or extortion),
- (d) conduct which causes self-harm”.

2.2 The protocol shall be read in conjunction with the Grampian Data Sharing Partnership Memorandum of Understanding for the Sharing of Information (hereinafter referred to as “the Memorandum of Understanding”) and the Grampian Interagency Policy and Procedures for the Support and Protection of Adults at Risk of Harm (hereinafter referred to as “the guidelines”).

2.3 The 2007 Act places a number of duties on the Councils to:

- I. make enquiries to establish whether action is required, where it is known or believed that an adult is at risk of harm and that intervention may be necessary;
- II. co-operate with other councils and other bodies (including but not limited to the other partners to this protocol);
- III. inform the adult that they may refuse to answer any question put to them or may refuse to consent to a medical examination;
- IV. request examination of health, financial or other records relating to the individual;
- V. visit the adult at risk at reasonable times;
- VI. have regard to the importance of the provision of appropriate services, where the Council considers that it needs to intervene in order to protect an adult at risk of harm;
- VII. protect property owned or controlled by an adult who is removed from a place under a removal order;
- VIII. set up an Adult Protection Committee to carry out various functions in relation to adult protection in its area.

2.4 If more than one person is involved with an adult, because the adult lives in a different place from their home address, the Council in whose area the adult lives shall lead any investigation. In terms of the duties in 2.3 above, it may be necessary for the lead Council to work with the Council in whose area the home address is.

2.5 Section 5 of the 2007 Act places a duty on other bodies (including the Police, NHS (including the Scottish Ambulance Service), Office of the Public Guardian and other public bodies) to co-operate with a Council making inquiries to establish whether action is required where it is known or believed that an adult may be at risk.

2.6 The Scottish Government has recommended in the Adult Support and Protection Code of Practice that all relevant stakeholders participate and although not specifically named by section 5, the Scottish Fire and Rescue Service can legitimately share information under the Data Protection Act 1998 Schedule 2(5) and Schedule 2(7). The Scottish Fire and Rescue Service may become involved with adults, whom they know or believe as being at risk, and may therefore have cause to refer people to the lead Council, and as such have a direct part to play in protecting people from risk of harm.

3 THE LEGAL BASIS FOR SHARING INFORMATION

3.1 Information about adults at risk may be shared between the partner organisations under the following provisions:

- The Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007 (“the 2007 Act”), specifically section 5.
- The Data Protection Act 1998 (“the DPA”), specifically Schedule 2(5) and Schedule 3(7)
- Common Law of Confidentiality
- The Human Rights Act 1998

4. WHAT TO SHARE?

4.1 Partner organisations should contact the lead Council if the organisation has concerns and/or believes that the adult is known, or is suspected, to be at risk of harm. As a minimum, the partner organisation should disclose the information contained within the form attached in Part 1 of the Schedule to this protocol.

4.2 Where a Council Officer has determined that a person is, or is suspected to be, an adult at risk of harm, the officer may request information from any partner organisation(s), or other organisations not party to this protocol in accordance with sections 4 and 10 of the 2007 Act. When making such a request, the Council Officer should consider what information will be reasonably required for the support and protection of that adult.

4.3 In the event of uncertainty as to the relevance of information the person holding the information should seek advice from their line manager before deciding whether or not to share information.

4.4 The decision about what information to share with a partnership organisation will often depend on the particular inquiries the Council makes or the involvement of other partner organisations with an adult. However, any information which is to be shared should be lawful, proportionate, adequate and necessary for the purpose of this protocol.

Sharing information, in the context of adults at risk may be required for any one of the following purposes:

- An initial alert;
- an initial referral discussion;
- an adult protection meeting;
- an investigation being conducted;
- a case conference;
- ongoing support as defined in an Adult Protection Plan or review/ learning and debriefing.

5. RESTRICTIONS ON THE USE OF INFORMATION

5.1 By signing this Protocol, Partner organisations confirm that their use and disclosure of personal information is in accordance with the Data Protection Act 1998 and the Memorandum of Understanding.

5.2 ANY PERSONAL DATA DISCLOSED UNDER THIS PROTOCOL MUST NOT BE DISCLOSED BY ANY PARTNER TO ANY THIRD PARTY OR USED FOR ANY SECONDARY PURPOSE WITHOUT THE WRITTEN CONSENT OF THE PARTNER THAT PROVIDED THE INFORMATION.

5.3 Information disclosed under this protocol may be disclosed, or a secondary use made of that data by third parties, where any partner to this protocol is obliged to disclose such information as a result of Court Order or because the recipient of such data has a statutory duty obliging such disclosure. Each partner organisation shall notify the originator of the information of any third party disclosure it is required to make in terms of this paragraph.

5.4 Where an individual makes a request to access information about themselves, the partner organisation receiving that request shall seek the permission of all relevant partner organisations before disclosing the personal data to the data subject. If a partner organisation refuses "permission" it may still be appropriate to provide the information if it is deemed "reasonable in all the circumstances" to do so. Refusal of consent by a partner organisation will be considered but information may still need to be provided. Permission regarding disclosure shall be given by the Point of Contact in each partner organisation.

6. ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

6.1 Each partner organisation should identify a point of contact who will have responsibility for compliance with this protocol within their organisation. This should also be the person to participate in annual review of the protocol and act as a contact if there are any issues with the same.

6.2 Aberdeen City Council shall have responsibility for reviewing the protocol and making any amendments to the protocol which are deemed necessary by the partner organisations. The review will take place annually and shall be led by an officer in Aberdeen City Health and Social Care Partnership.

6.3 The following individuals are the Point of Contacts in relation to this protocol:

7. CONSENT

7.1 Consent means “any freely given, specific, informed and unambiguous indication of the data subjects wishes by which he or she, by a statement or by a clear affirmative action, signifies agreement to the processing of personal data relating to him or her”

7.2 In accordance with the guidelines, an adult’s explicit consent should be sought and recorded by the organisation having contact with the adult. Where officers are reasonably of the view that the adult is unable to consent due to he/she being incapable of understanding what it is they are being asked to consent to, or the consent has been obtained as a result of the adult being subject to undue pressure, then the officer should consult the guidelines for further information.

7.3 Whilst consent is preferred and is good practice if it is not obtained or is refused this does not provide a barrier against sharing information about the adult for the purposes of this protocol. The relevant conditions legitimising information sharing under the DPA are Schedule 2 (5)(b) and Schedule 3 (7)(1)(b), namely that the 2007 Act provides a Council with the power to request information and imposes a duty on partner organisations to co-operate and disclose information about an adult at risk to a Council as in section 2.3.

8. Process For Sharing INFORMATION

8.1 Referrals to Councils can be made by telephone, secure email, in person or by recorded first class post.

8.2 Where information is to be shared via telephone, steps must be taken to verify the caller’s identity e.g. establish Police rank/ or role in agency and obtain a contact telephone number. Where it is appropriate to share information, the call should be returned and the relevant information disclosed. Concerns may also be brought to a partner organisations attention from members of the public. Where possible officers should follow the steps above, noting that there may be circumstances where a caller wishes to remain anonymous.

8.3 Email correspondence is permitted from a secure email to a receiving secure email. If you are unsure the email is secure, please check with the organisation you are transferring the information to.

8.4 Sometimes it may be appropriate to hand deliver information in person. Where the intention is to hand deliver information, the covering envelope should be addressed to a named officer in the partner organisation. The name and role of the person the envelope has been handed to must be obtained, if it is not the recipient.

8.5 If the information is to be sent by post, this should be by way of first class Special Delivery post so that it is traceable. The covering envelope should be addressed to a named officer in the partner organisation.

Note: Fax must not be used in any circumstances as security cannot be guaranteed.

8.6 Information may also be shared by officers or professionals from partner organisations at multi agency meetings such as an adult protection meeting or case conference.

8.7 Where a Council makes a request for information to partner organisations, it should refer to the guidelines for information on how to make such a request. All requests must comply with the principles of the Data Protection Act 1998.

8.8 When a decision has been made by a partner organisation to share information, a record of the disclosure will be kept by that organisation, which shall include

- the information disclosed;
- person to whom the disclosure was made;
- date of the disclosure;
- reason for the disclosure;
- signature of person making the disclosure, where appropriate; and
- whether disclosure was made with or without consent.

8.9 Partner organisations will also keep a record of all requests for information that are refused for no longer than is necessary in terms of the Data Protection Act 1998. The record shall include

- the information requested;
- the reason for refusal; and
- the person who took the decision to refuse the request.

8.10 The process for sharing information is summarised in the chart in Part 2 of the Schedule to this protocol.

9. RETENTION AND DISPOSAL

9.1 Partner organisations undertake to store information securely, having regard to their respective records management policies.

9.2 The recipient of the information is required to keep it securely for as long as necessary, having regard to their involvement with the adult and the partner organisation's records management policy.

9.3 Information disclosed or shared under this protocol shall be disposed of securely for example, by secure shredding, once the partner organisation holding it, determines it is no longer necessary to retain it.

10. INDEMNITY

10.1 In the event that the third party who has suffered harm as a result of such breach seeks damages (whether at common law, under Section 13 of the DPA 1998 or otherwise) from a partner which was not in breach of its obligations, that partner shall be entitled to be indemnified by the partner in breach of its duties hereunder in accordance with the provisions of clause 12.4 of the MOU.

11. WITHDRAWAL FROM THE PROTOCOL

11.1 Any partner organisation may withdraw from this protocol on giving six months' written notice to the others of their intention to do so.

11.2 This protocol may be varied only by the written agreement of all of the partners.

11.3 This protocol shall terminate on the execution by the partners (or their successors) and coming into force of another Protocol on sharing personal data which is expressly stated to supersede this protocol or the MOU.

12. COUNTERPARTS

12.1 This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts and by each of the parties on separate counterparts, all as permitted by The Legal Writings (Counterparts and Delivery) (Scotland) Act 2015.

12.2 If executed in counterparts:

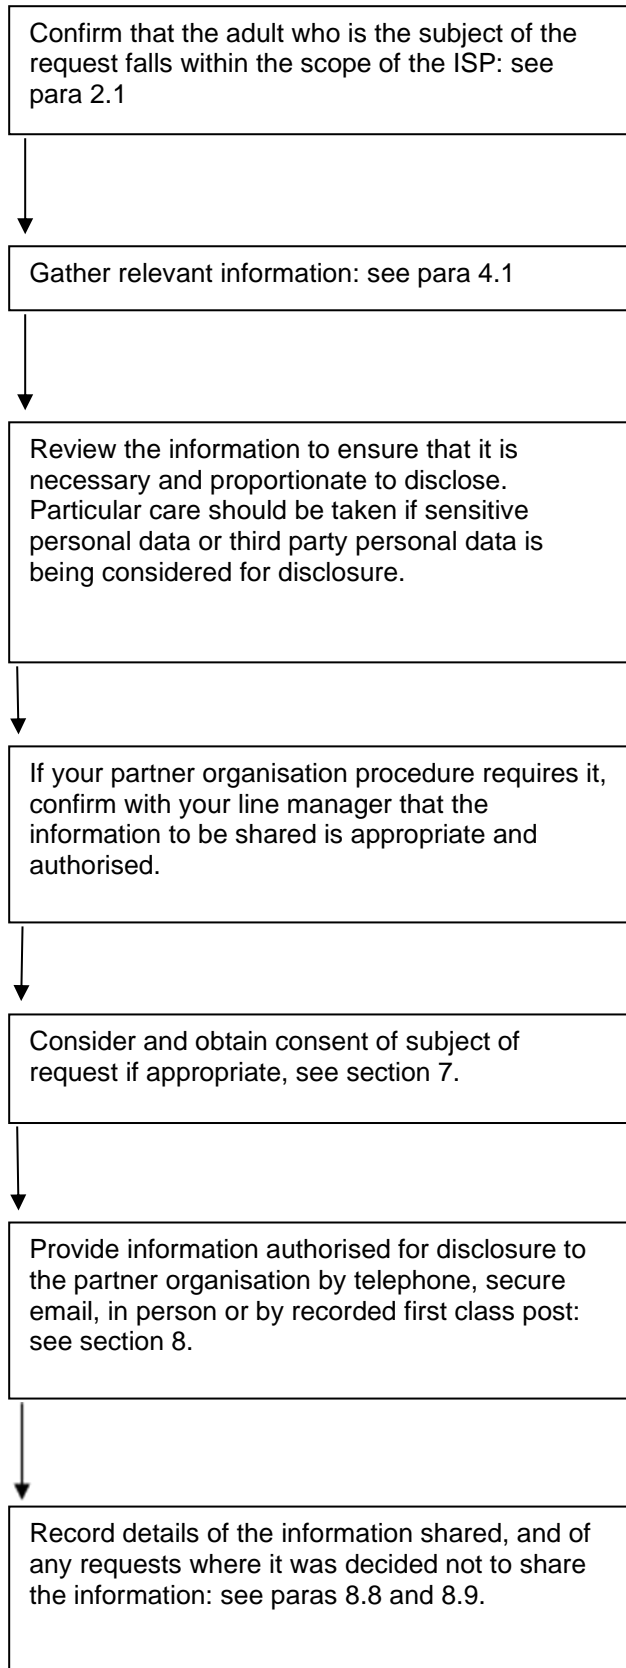

12.2.1 this Agreement will not take effect until each of the counterparts had been delivered; and

12.2.2 each counterpart will be held as undelivered until the parties agree a date on which the counterparts are to be treated as delivered; and 12.2.3 the date of delivery of this Agreement will be inserted in the testing clause in the blank provided for the delivery date.

1. Introduction

- 1.1. Initial Referrals Discussions (IRD's) have been long established in Child Protection and are a vital process to share information and make joint decisions. IRD's allow professionals to consider an adult support and protection report, share initial research and information, and then agree a response on a multi-agency basis.
- 1.2. All three Adult Protection Committees in Grampian agreed that IRD processes should be standardised on a Grampian-wide basis. As a result, this protocol was developed by Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire and Moray Health and Social Care Partnerships in conjunction with Police Scotland and NHS Grampian.
- 1.3. The Initial Referral Discussion, similar to the process in Child Protection, will be a telephone or virtual information gathering and decision making forum. The participants will be NHS Grampian, Police Scotland and the relevant local authority social work team responsible for adult protection screening. The target should be for the IRD to occur within 48 hours of the Referral being raised.
- 1.4. The introduction of this IRD protocol aims to improve multi-agency information sharing and joint decision making for adult support and protection throughout Grampian.

2. Purpose of an IRD

2.1. An IRD is not a case conference or a professionals meeting. Its purpose is to facilitate and support the sharing of relevant information to support initial decision making about an adult at risk and their circumstances.

2.2. An IRD should include, as part of the multi-agency discussions:

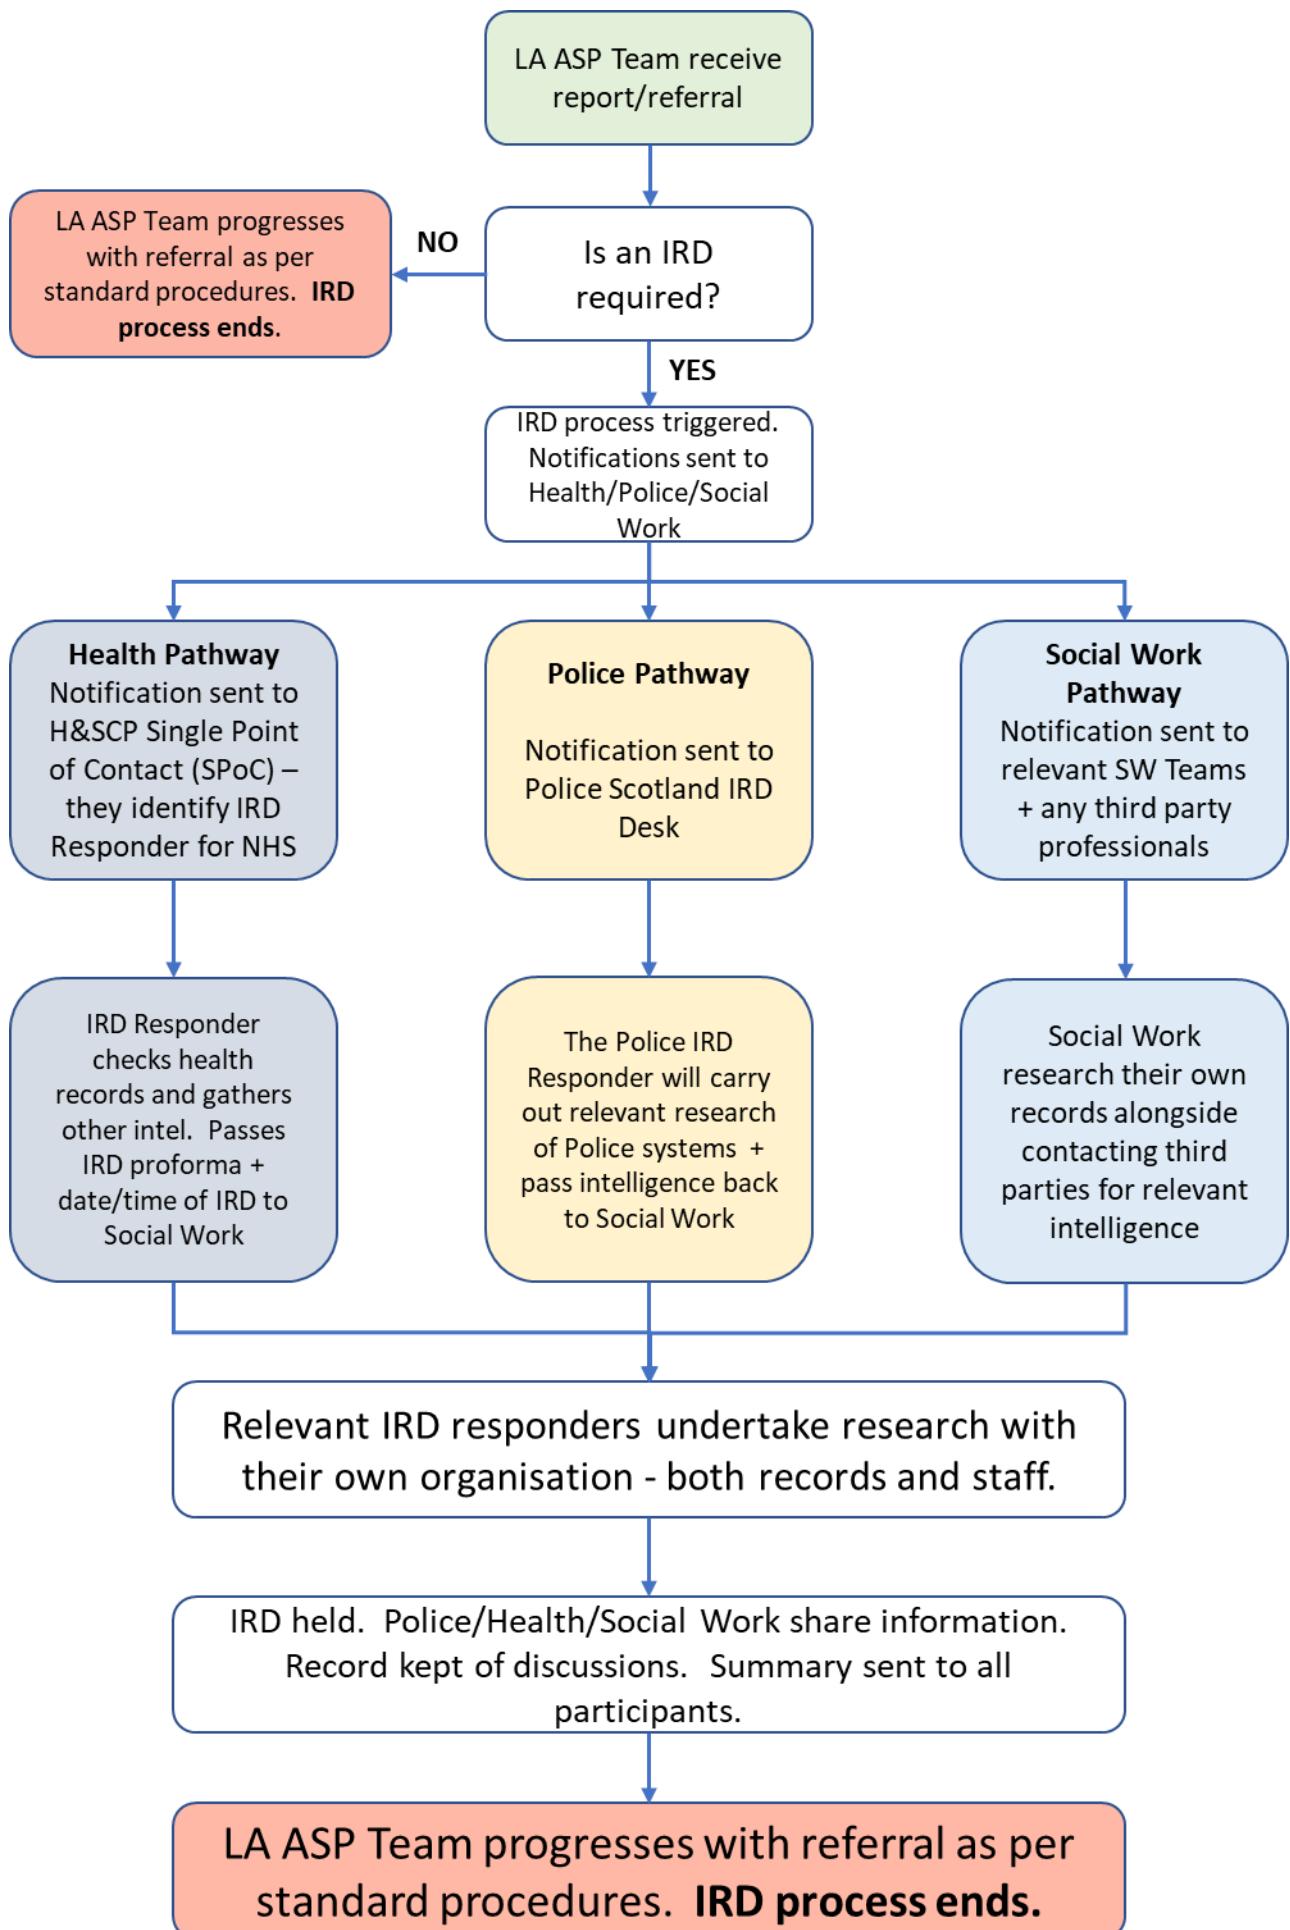

- Confirmation that immediate actions have been taken to make the adult safe in the short-term. [if not an immediate protection plan should be agreed].
- Identification and sharing of relevant information, to determine if an ASP Investigation is required.
- Determination as to whether a police investigation is required, (if criminality is suspected).
- Establishing what type of investigation is required (e.g. individual or large scale).
- Agree a lead for any investigation and establish the involvement of other agencies.
- Consider what alternative (non-ASP) support and protective measures are required.
- Initial planning of an ASP Case Conference, pending any investigatory work being initiated.

2.3. An IRD should be considered in the following circumstances:

- The adult is at serious risk of harm and the decision is taken to proceed to ASP Investigation
- The need for multi-agency investigation/intervention/information is immediately apparent
- The decision is made to progress to Large Scale Investigation
- A change of risks in an existing case that requires a high level of intervention e.g. protection order
- The decision to proceed further under ASP procedures is considered 'borderline' and would benefit from multi-agency consideration.

- 2.4. IRD's are also a legitimate mechanism to discuss situations where an adult has had 5 separate adult support and protection reports in a rolling two year period that have not resulted in any adult protection investigatory activity.

- 2.5. For the avoidance of doubt, this multiagency protocol governs Initial Referral Discussions related to individual adults at risk only. If it is believed that an ASP report relates to more than one individual where the origin of the harm is the same – this should be managed via the specific Large Scale Investigation IRD process as set out in the Grampian multiagency procedures and guidance.

3. Initial Referral Discussion Process – Health Guidance

- 3.1. The local authority social work department will contact the nominated Health Single Point of Contact (SPoC) within the relevant Health and Social Care Partnership.
- 3.2. The SPoC will check health records to ascertain if the potential adult at risk is known to any NHS professionals/teams. This could be community nursing teams, community psychiatric nurses, ward staff, allied health professionals, learning disability nursing, and integrated alcohol/drug service staff, amongst many others.
- 3.3. GP's will not be the default professional for attending IRD's – however may be the correct professional to attend if they have had significant involvement with the adult at risk, or are the only professional involved.
- 3.4. The SPoC will contact the relevant NHS professional and inform them that an IRD is required and give the details of the adult at risk. The professional identified by the SPoC will now be referred to as the Health IRD Responder. The IRD Responder will then inform the local authority social work department of their name and details + their availability to attend an IRD – this will occur within 24 hours of contact, to ensure there is no overall delay in scheduling the IRD.
- 3.5. If the SPoC is unable to source, for any reason, an appropriate IRD Responder, they should escalate to the NHS Grampian Public Protection Team immediately.
- 3.6. The local authority social work department will schedule the IRD and send joining instructions to the IRD Responder for the meeting. The IRD meeting will occur by telephone or virtual session and will last no longer than 20 minutes.
- 3.7. Prior to this meeting, the IRD Responder will have checked relevant health records to establish if there is any relevant information that supports the consideration of the adult support and protection report. The IRD Responder should also contact other health professionals who could have relevant information to inform the IRD.
- 3.8. The IRD Responder will participate in the IRD, sharing relevant health information and participate in discussions around next steps – ensuring the adults' health needs are fully considered.
- 3.9. The IRD Responder will record the IRD has happened in the adult's health records alongside the immediate outcome.
- 3.10. An IRD record will be provided by the local authority social work team to both the adult at risk's GP and the IRD Responder (if different). When received this should be added to the adult at risks health records.

IRD assessment tool – Health (this tool can be used by the IRD Responder to support the collection of health information; it is not a requirement)

Current or previous (last 2 years) health professionals providing a service to the Adult

Knowledge that would impact on the assessment that the adult has a mental or physical disability or impairment

Knowledge that would impact on the assessment that the adult is at risk of harm

Knowledge that would impact on the assessment that the adult is unable to protect themselves.

Any additional information

4. Initial Referral Discussion Process – Police Guidance

- 4.1. The local authority social work team will e-mail an IRD notification to IRDNorthEast@scotland.pnn.police.uk - following up with a phone call (01224 306918) in the case of urgent requests.
- 4.2. The IRD request will indicate
 - The name and date of birth of the adult and other significant involved people
 - The purpose of the request for information
 - The requested time of the IRD teleconference
- 4.3. The Police Officer receiving the IRD request should nominate a named staff member to progress the IRD (Police IRD Responder). Any issues with this should be highlighted at this time.
- 4.4. The Police IRD Responder will carry out relevant research of Police systems with the information being available at IRD.
- 4.5. The presumption of Police attendance will be applied to all IRDs, however in certain circumstances where Police are unlikely to be required in the decision making process, it may be acceptable to share Police research with the lead agency and consult with them regarding the requirement for Police attendance. Unless agreed otherwise with the lead agency, Police will attend all IRDs.
- 4.6. The nominated Police Officer will take part in the teleconference, sharing relevant information and take part in discussion around next steps.
- 4.7. If a criminal investigation is required, discussion will occur about the impact on the ASP process. The Police IRD Responder will ensure any criminal investigation is undertaken timeously.
- 4.8. Police participation at an ASP IRD should be recorded via a VPD entry. This should document what information was shared and what actions will be taken as a result of the IRD.
- 4.9. In all cases a written IRD record will be provided by the social work lead agency within 24 hours.
- 4.10. If a Case Conference date is agreed, the Police IRD Responder will direct that invitations be sent via the Concern Hub as per existing arrangements for attendance to be facilitated.

5. Initial Referral Discussion Process – Local Authority Social Work

NOTE: Because the three separate local authority areas in Grampian configure their adult support and protection operational activity differently – this section of the document captures the process in general terms only.

For further detail, please see each local authority area's own operational procedures.

- 5.1. Local Authority Social Work will make the decision if an IRD is required and allocate a Social Work IRD responder.
- 5.2. Local Authority Social Work sends IRD notification email to Health and Police.
- 5.3. The IRD notification template will indicate:
 - The name and date of birth of the adult and other significant involved people.
 - The reason an IRD is occurring.
 - A request to Health to set time/date for IRD to occur. The target will be for the IRD to occur within 48 hours of the notification being sent.
- 5.4. The Local Authority Social Work Team responsible for the IRD will check electronic files and contact any SW professional (currently involved – both community and acute services) to establish if there is any additional information held that supports the adult protection IRD process.
- 5.5. The Local Authority Social Work Team will gather information from any other required professional or non-professional which would support the IRD discussion e.g. Care Inspectorate, Housing, Office of the Public Guardian, 3rd Sector organisation, carer.
- 5.6. Upon receipt from the Health IRD Responder of a date/time for the IRD, the Local Authority Social Work Team will send joining instructions to IRD participants for the IRD meeting. The IRD meeting will occur by telephone or virtual conference and will last no longer than 20 minutes.
- 5.7. The Local Authority Social Work Team will facilitate the IRD, sharing relevant information and take part in discussion around next steps.
- 5.8. The IRD will:
 - Confirm immediate actions have been taken to make the adult safe in the short-term - if this has not occurred, an immediate protection plan will be agreed.

- Identify and share relevant information, to determine if an ASP Investigation is required.
- Determine if a police investigation is required, if criminality is suspected.
- Establish what type of investigation is required (e.g. individual or large scale).
- Agree a lead for the investigation (ASP Investigation Lead) and establish involvement of other agencies.
- Agree a date for an Adult Protection Case Conference
- Decide what alternative (non-ASP) support and protective measures are required.
- Record the IRD in the adult's social work record. [This will document what information was shared and what actions will be taken as a result of the IRD.]
- Provide an IRD summary to health and police contacts. This will be provided within 24 hrs of the IRD.

Interagency Procedure for Large Scale Investigations of Adults at Risk of Harm in Managed Care Settings

1. DEFINITIONS / SCOPE Definition of a Large Scale Investigation

A Large Scale Investigation is a multi-agency response to circumstances where there may be two or more adults at risk of harm within a managed care setting (this includes residential care, day care, home based care or a healthcare setting).

Purpose of Procedure

This procedure has been created to:

- Provide a standardised approach to carrying out a Large Scale Investigation for all professions consistent with current evidence of best practice.
- Offer a framework for an alternative process to holding large numbers of individual Adult Support and Protection Inquiries and ensure that there is adequate overview / co-ordination where a number of agencies have key roles to play.
- Clarify partner agencies' responsibilities for overseeing Large Scale Investigations in Grampian.

Scope

This procedure potentially applies to all adults at risk of harm, as defined by the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007, in managed care settings within the Grampian area.

For the purpose of clarity, this procedure does not replace, (nor is it a substitute for), local Health and Safety and/or Fire Safety procedures and arrangements. This procedure is designed purely to support the multi-agency response to concerns about harm regarding multiple adults within a managed care setting.

Relevant Legislation

The following legislation is viewed as being relevant and/or related to this procedure:

- Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007
- Public Services Reform (Scotland) Act 2010

Relevant Procedures

The following agency/interagency procedures are viewed as being relevant and or related to this document:

- Grampian Interagency Policy and Procedure for the Support and Protection of Adults at Risk of Harm

2. INTRODUCTION

- 2.1 The Adult Support & Protection (Scotland) Act 2007 (The Act) introduced a duty for councils to make inquiries where it is known or believed that an adult may be at risk of harm and where protective action may be required. The Act gives the Council the lead role in Adult Protection investigations and makes no distinction between NHS premises and other settings.
- 2.2 This procedure has been agreed by Aberdeen City Council, Aberdeenshire Council, Moray Council, NHS Grampian and Police Scotland, which will be the key agencies involved in any investigation process involving managed care settings. It is designed to minimise risk to both service users and staff in any care setting.

Due to its statutory responsibilities for regulated care services, the Care Inspectorate participated in the development of this procedure. Whilst not directly involved in the creation of this procedure, Healthcare Improvement Scotland (HIS) and the Mental Welfare Commission have also been consulted in relation to the content herein.

- 2.3 Concerns about an adult at risk being harmed in a care setting can be raised from many sources including:
- Family / friends making a complaint about standards of care
 - Whistleblowing within an organisation
 - Procurator Fiscal investigating a death
 - Concerns raised from an admission to hospital
 - Concerns highlighted via regulatory process
- 2.4 This guidance must not be read in isolation and should be viewed as a companion to the Act's code of practice and the Grampian Interagency Policy and Procedure for the Support and Protection of Adults at Risk of Harm.

3. INITIAL REFERRAL DISCUSSION / IMMEDIATE SAFETY ISSUES

- 3.1 When an adult protection report is received by one of the three local authority partners, it will initially be screened as per standard adult support and protection procedures. However, when the harm is noted to have occurred within a managed care setting, the local authority adult protection units/network will also consider whether there is potential that other adults are also experiencing harm or are at risk of harm.
- 3.2 If there is potential that there may be multiple adults at risk of harm, then an Initial Referral Discussion (IRD) must be initiated with relevant agencies.
- 3.3 The Initial Referral Discussion (IRD) may take place in a variety of formats depending on the specifics of the situation, including priority and availability. It may be a meeting, conference call or a series of communications between the relevant agencies.
- 3.4 At this stage of the IRD process, relevant notifications to other appropriate agencies (who are not presently aware of the concerns) should be made.

The agencies who may be notified include [please note this is not an exhaustive list]:

- The Care Inspectorate (for concerns relating to registered care settings)
 - Police Scotland (for concerns where there is potential criminality – also see point 3.7)
 - The Mental Welfare Commission (where the concerns relates to ill treatment, neglect or cruelty towards a person with a mental disorder)
 - Healthcare Improvement Scotland (for concerns located within NHS care settings)
 - Local authority Contracts/Commissioning Team
 - The Office of the Public Guardian
 - Local authority Communications Team/Press officer
 - Relevant senior managers/board members of the relevant Health and Social Care Partnership
 - Elected Councillors
- 3.5 Following the IRD, any actions that are required to safeguard adults at immediate risk should be taken straight away and should not wait for further stages in the procedure. This reflects the position of the wider Grampian Interagency Policy and Procedure which is clear that if an adult at risk is in immediate danger, action should be taken without delay to safeguard/protect that individual.
- 3.6 Potential immediate interventions could include [please note this is not an exhaustive list]:
- A suspension on admissions/referrals to the managed care setting

- Immediate Human Resources (HR) actions taken against particular members of staff involved with the managed care setting (e.g. precautionary suspension etc). This would be the responsibility of the management of the managed care setting with advice from other agencies as appropriate.
- Immediate removal from the managed care setting of particularly at risk individuals

3.8 A caveat to points 3.5 and 3.6 is that if there is the potential for a criminal investigation as a result of the concerns raised, Police Scotland will give instruction/advice as to what actions/activities can or cannot be progressed. The general principle is that any criminal investigation must take primacy and not be compromised by other agencies' actions. However, this will always be balanced against the need for timely action to ensure the safety of any adults who are potentially at risk.

3.9 Following the Initial Referral Discussion, the local authority will be in a position to make a decision as to how to proceed in regards to the concern raised. Normally, there will be one of three outcomes:

- There is to be No Further Action (NFA) under adult protection procedures. This would be the outcome if the adults involved did not meet the three point test under Adult Support and Protection (ASP) legislation, or the risk of harm that was reported was not present. NOTE: A decision of NFA in regards to Adult Protection does not in any way preclude other interventions occurring (e.g. Care Inspectorate regulatory activity; contract enforcement action etc).
- Individual Adult Protection Investigations – where it is likely that there are ongoing adult protection concerns, however these would be best addressed via individual inquiries/investigations. In these circumstances, individual ASP inquiries/investigations would be progressed via the standard arrangements within the Grampian Interagency Policy and Procedure. This would be the outcome if the harm is thought to be limited in who it affects within the managed care setting and is felt to be best addressed on an individual basis.
- Large Scale Investigation – where it is likely that there are ongoing adult protection concerns AND those concerns are felt to impact upon multiple adults who are involved with the managed care setting.

3.10 When the decision of the local authority is that there ARE ongoing adult protection concerns within the managed care setting AND that it impacts upon multiple residents, the next step would be to convene a Large Scale Investigation Planning Meeting.

In some circumstances it may be possible to complete an action plan as part of the Initial Referral Discussion. However, this may also be undertaken during a subsequent full Large Scale Investigation Planning Meeting if more appropriate, for example, if there are other agencies not involved in the Initial Referral

Discussion but which should be involved in the planning discussion or if agencies need to consult internally prior to more detailed planning.

3.11 The following are examples of when it would be best practice to convene a Large Scale Investigation Planning Meeting:

- Where care standards in a managed care setting have deteriorated to a level where there is a realistic risk of neglect occurring as a form of harm and this is likely to have a global impact on all service users.
- Where there are multiple victims not in one location, but linked due to their association with a managed care setting: for example a number of adults at risk in the community may be being systematically targeted by an employee of a care provider. A Large Scale Investigation Planning meeting would bring together key agencies to assist in any investigation and consider how to support the adults at risk.
- It may also be useful to convene a Large Scale Investigation Planning meeting in cases where multiple allegations are received from service users against other service users within a managed care setting. In these circumstances, however, experience indicates that proactively addressing the supervisory arrangements, and the management of aggressive or sexualised behaviour, can be much more effective.

4. LARGE SCALE INVESTIGATION PLANNING MEETING

- 4.1 The council will be the lead agency for arranging the Large Scale Investigation Planning Meeting and will appoint a Chairperson who will have overall responsibility for arranging and conducting the meeting.
- 4.2 The Chairperson will identify the key agencies that are required to attend the meeting. Those attending should be of a sufficiently senior level to contribute to decision making and resource allocation if necessary.

The following should routinely be considered for invitation [please note this is not an exhaustive list]:

- Local authority Adult Protection Unit/Network
 - Local authority Communications Manager
 - NHS Grampian, for example:
 - GP Practice linked to the managed care setting
 - Other Medical Practitioners linked to the managed care setting, such as Geriatrician, Psychiatric Consultant etc.
 - Police Scotland Representative – via the North East Concern Hub based in Aberdeen
 - Care Inspectorate (if the managed care setting/provider is or should be registered)
 - Senior Manager of the managed care setting involved (though see point 4.4 below)
 - Local authority Contracts/Commissioning Team Manager
 - Local Authority Legal Team
 - Representative/s from any other local authorities funding placements within the managed care setting
- 4.3 If senior managers are invited they may bring/delegate attendance to relevant managers involved in the investigation. However, the principle stated in point 4.2 remains – all attendees should have sufficient seniority to allow effective decision making to take place.
- 4.4 It is important to involve the relevant senior manager of the managed care setting that is involved in the potential investigation throughout the process, where possible. However, there will be instances where notifying the managed care setting may not be appropriate, for example, due to risk of compromise to an investigation. A decision as to whether to exclude a representative from the managed care setting from the planning meeting will be taken by the Chairperson in consultation with relevant partners e.g. Police Scotland, Care Inspectorate etc.
- 4.5 The chairperson of the planning meeting will set the agenda and a suggested framework is included in this procedure (see Appendix A).
- 4.6 The intention of the Large Scale Investigation Planning meeting will be to:

- Analyse information available and make a decision as to whether a Large Scale Investigation should be initiated under Adult Support and Protection Procedures, and/or through criminal investigation.
- Consider the nature and timing of any regulatory response being proposed by the Care Inspectorate to ensure that this does not interfere with any proposed or ongoing investigation.
- Consider/discuss any assessments/investigations already conducted at this time (from Social Work, Health, or Police).
- Consider information provided by all agencies which will include previous concerns / reports and complaints received by them.
- Consider / review whether a media strategy is required.
- Provide clarity in regard to parallel/joint investigation i.e. Police/Care Inspectorate/Council/NHS, in particular ensure that appropriate interagency sharing of information is discussed and agreed.
- Identify key tasks to be undertaken; the persons who will undertake these tasks; and agreed timescales for completion. This will include any immediate protective measures for individuals (where not already addressed).
- Consider the need for any individual interventions which need to be undertaken for adults considered to be at particular risk (it may not be necessary to do this if concerns / protection issues are adequately addressed by the Large Scale Investigation Procedure).
- Consider scheduling further Large Scale Investigation Planning meetings to review progress, findings and next steps if the investigation is complex, covers systemic issues or is likely to be lengthy.
- Agree how the relevant manager of the care home / care setting / service under investigation will be apprised of the situation and who is responsible for this (if not already informed).
- Decide whether the relevant Contracts Manager needs to be advised of the decisions of the strategy meeting (if not in attendance)
- Consider notification of other parties (if notifications have not already been made at an earlier part of the process) – for example Mental Welfare Commission, other local authorities, family/main carers.

4.7 Where the concerns relate to potential criminal activity the meeting will ensure that:

- Any agreed action plan will focus on the immediate protective measures required, but that;
- The action plan will otherwise be primarily informed by the requirements of the Police to conduct a criminal investigation in liaison with the Procurator Fiscal

4.8 Any staffing/resource issues which may impede the progression of an investigation should be escalated to senior management within the relevant body for quick resolution.

4.9 The Large Scale Investigation Planning meeting should be minuted and a copy sent to all participants and those who were invited but were unable to attend. Minutes should be circulated within 14 days of the meeting being held.

5. LARGE SCALE INVESTIGATIONS

- 5.1 The first step when proceeding with a large scale investigation is the appointment of a Lead Council Officer who will be responsible for the overall coordination of the investigatory process. For the purposes of clarity, it should be stressed that there is no expectation on the Lead Council Officer to undertake the investigatory work alone; they will merely coordinate the overall process of investigation.
- 5.2 The Chair of the Large Scale Investigation Planning meeting will agree who will be appointed as Lead Council Officer. This officer will be an authorised Council Officer under the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007 and possess substantial adult protection fieldwork experience.
- 5.3 As allegations vary widely, it is impossible to detail all the steps which should be undertaken in any large scale investigation of potential harm.
- 5.4 Different situations will necessitate different levels of investigatory response. For example, in a situation where there have been concerns about standards of care within a registered care setting over a period of time, the majority of information may already be available and the primary responsibility of the Lead Council Officer will be to address any gaps in knowledge and ensure collation of all known reports. Conversely, in situations where the allegation of harm is completely new to the statutory services, far more substantial direct investigation may be required – potentially including interviews with service users, staff, family members etc.
- 5.5 However, as per the Grampian Policy, in all investigatory work, the following points should be considered:
 - It is essential that staff leading interviews have all undergone specific training in investigating allegations of harm.
 - The investigation should be carried out as sensitively as possible. The impact on the adults should always be considered and the adults' wishes must be taken into account. A balance must be reached between the need to protect the adults and respecting their rights.
 - The investigation should be undertaken as soon as possible, taking into account the impact on the adults in the managed care setting.
 - Preliminary interviews may have to take place with the person who may have made the allegation, workers of support services etc. Checks should also be made on all available computer records/manual records and with other councils if appropriate.
 - Care should be taken in the choice of venue and timing of the interviews with the adults, to ensure they are at ease etc. and that all necessary supports are available, e.g. interpreter, computer, loop system and symbols.

- Consideration should be given to minimising any negative impact of the investigation on service provision wherever possible but without compromising the robustness of this process.
- All interviews related to the investigation must be carried out by a Council Officer and one other professional e.g. from Social Work/NHS/Police. It may also be necessary to include a member of support staff who knows the adults well. If required, appropriate assistance should be made available to address any identified communication need(s)
- Council staff should consider the provision of independent advocacy services when investigations occur.
- Those involved in the investigation should always meet beforehand, to discuss how to proceed, making sure that they are aware of all the facts to date, any background knowledge/information regarding the adults involved and any alleged perpetrator.

5.6 Once the investigatory process is concluded, the Lead Council Officer will be responsible for collating the information obtained ready for presentation to, and consideration at, an Adult Protection Large Scale Investigation Outcome Meeting.

5.7 A template for recording the investigation is available (see Appendix C) and all communication should be collated in chronological order.

6. LARGE SCALE INVESTIGATION OUTCOME MEETING

- 6.1 Following conclusion of the large scale investigation, the chairperson of the planning meeting will call a large scale investigation outcome meeting to allow for discussion/deliberation of the findings.
- 6.2 It would be considered good practice for the chairperson of the outcome meeting to be the same person who chaired the original planning meeting.
- 6.3 All those who were invited to the original planning meeting should also be invited to the outcome meeting. In addition, any other relevant parties who may contribute to effective decision making should also be invited. For example, if as part of a Large Scale Investigation it was found that skin care was a particular risk factor, a tissue viability specialist might be asked to attend the outcome meeting.
- 6.4 Representatives of the management of the managed care setting should normally be invited to attend the outcome meeting. Due to the nature of the discussions/deliberations, the staff of the managed care setting may be excluded from sections of the outcome meeting proceedings – this will be at the discretion of the chairperson.
- 6.5 The chairperson of the outcome meeting will set the agenda and a suggested framework is included in this procedure (see Appendix A).
- 6.6 Overall, the purpose of the Large Scale Investigation Outcome Meeting will be to:
 - Determine, based on the information obtained during the investigation and thereafter, if the service users within the managed care setting are ‘adults at risk of harm’ under the terms of the 2007 legislation. If this is the case, to THEN:
 - Develop an appropriate action plan to address the concerns/risks.
- 6.7 By the end of the Large Scale Investigation Outcome Meeting, a decision should be reached as to the ongoing management of the concerns. This will result in an outcome of one of the following:
 - NFA under the Large Scale Investigation procedure. This outcome would be selected if the service users within the managed care setting were no longer found to be at risk of harm.
 - Adult Protection Action Plan. This outcome would be selected if the service users within the managed care setting remained at risk of harm. This plan may include actions to safeguard all individuals involved, but may also have specific actions for safeguarding particularly at risk adults within the managed care setting

- 6.8 If it is determined that there is an ongoing risk of harm to service users, then an action plan should be agreed at the outcome meeting which clearly sets out how the risks will be managed and addressed.
- 6.9 The action plan should be specific in regards to those responsible and timescales for implementation.
- 6.10 In addition, if an action plan has been agreed, then a date for review of the plan must be set at the outcome meeting.
- 6.11 The Large Scale Investigation Outcome meeting should be minuted and a copy sent to all participants and those who were invited but were unable to attend. The minutes should be circulated within 14 days of the meeting being held.
- 6.12 If the Large Scale Investigation process terminates at this point, the Chairperson may wish to consider whether a review of the work undertaken is necessary to ensure any learning for the future is taken forward.

7. LARGE SCALE INVESTIGATION REVIEW MEETING

- 7.1 Following a Large Scale Investigation Outcome Meeting, if an action plan is in place, its effectiveness must be reviewed.
- 7.2 This review will be conducted via the Large Scale Investigation Review Meeting.
- 7.3 It is good practice for the chairperson of the review meeting to be the same person who chaired the outcome meeting.
- 7.4 All those who were invited to the outcome meeting should also be invited to the review meeting. In addition, any other relevant parties who may contribute to effective decision making should also be invited.
- 7.5 Representatives of the management of the managed care setting should normally be invited to attend the review meeting. Due to the nature of the discussions/deliberations, the staff of the managed care setting may be excluded from sections of the review meeting proceedings – this will be at the discretion of the chairperson.
- 7.6 The chairperson of the review meeting will set the agenda and a suggested framework is included in this procedure (see Appendix A).
- 7.7 Overall, the purpose of the Large Scale Investigation Review Meeting will be to:
- Review the effectiveness of the current action plan in place to safeguard those adults involved with the managed care setting;
- AND
- Determine, (based on the information obtained during the meeting and elsewhere) if the adults within the managed care setting continue to be 'adults at risk of harm' under the terms of the 2007 legislation.
- 7.8 By the end of the Large Scale Investigation Review Meeting, a decision should be reached as to the ongoing management of the concerns. This will result in an outcome of one of the following:
- NFA under the Large Scale Investigation procedure. This outcome would be selected if the service users within the managed care setting were no longer found to be at risk of harm.
 - Adult Protection Action Plan. This outcome would be selected if the service users within the managed care setting remained at risk of harm, despite the existing action plan.

- 7.9 If it is determined that there remains an ongoing risk of harm to service users, then a revised action plan should be agreed at the review meeting which clearly sets out how the ongoing risks will be addressed.
- 7.10 The revised action plan should be specific in regards to those responsible and timescales for implementation.
- 7.11 In addition, if there remains ongoing risk, and a revised action plan has been agreed, then a date for an additional review of the plan should be set at the review meeting. This review would use the same agenda and procedures as the first review meeting.
- 7.12 Reviews of the action plan should continue until the risk of harm is reduced to an acceptable level.
- 7.13 The Large Scale Investigation Review meeting should be minuted and a copy sent to all participants and those who were invited but who were unable to attend. The minutes should be circulated within 14 days of the meeting being held.
- 7.14 When the Large Scale Investigation process terminates, the Chairperson may wish to consider whether a review of the work undertaken is necessary to ensure any learning for the future is carried forward.

8. APPENDIX A

Large Scale Investigation Planning Meeting

Agenda

1. Introductions and apologies.
2. Recording arrangements.
3. Information currently available from each agency and any reports received.
4. Summary of concerns and current situation.
5. Decide if service users qualify as 'adults at risk of harm'.

The Act defines an 'adult at risk' as a person aged 16 years or over who:

- is unable to safeguard her / his own well-being, property, rights or other interests; and
- is at risk of harm; and
- because they are affected by disability, mental disorder, illness or physical or mental infirmity are more vulnerable to being harmed than adults who are not so affected.

6. Is a large scale investigation required?

A large scale investigation will normally be appropriate in situations where multiple service users are considered to be adults at risk of harm due to the same source of concerns.

7. Investigation planning
8. Any immediate actions that need to occur to safeguard service users
9. Consider any notification requirements to other agencies/organisations

Large Scale Investigation Outcome Meeting

Agenda

1. Introduction and apologies
2. Purpose of outcome meeting
3. Discussion of findings from the investigation plus any additional reports received.
4. Clarify if the adults are at risk of harm - note any dissenting views.

The Act defines an 'adult at risk' as a person aged 16 years or over who:

- is unable to safeguard her / his own well-being, property, rights or other interests; and
 - is at risk of harm; and
 - because they are affected by disability, mental disorder, illness or physical or mental infirmity are more vulnerable to being harmed than adults who are not so affected.
5. Consideration of actions required to protect the adults including application for adult protection orders or other legislation - note any dissenting views.
 6. Adult protection plan agreed (include timescales and responsible officers)
 7. Review arrangements

Large Scale Investigation Outcome Review meeting

Agenda

1 Purpose of the Meeting

The purpose of the meeting is for participants to provide any information updates since the last meeting, identify any ongoing risks and review the Adult Protection Plan. A decision will also be taken as to whether ongoing Case Conference Management is required.

2 Agency Updates

Each agency should provide a brief summary of any updates/ changes in circumstances since the previous meeting. Particularly focus on any changes in risks which need to be accommodated/ investigated and or issues with the existing protection plan.

The views of the adults and any carers etc as to the effectiveness of the Adult Protection Plan should be sought, along with any suggestions they have for reducing risk/ increasing safety.

3 Review of Adult Protection Plan

Tasks set at last meeting should be explicitly reviewed. What is working well? Or not so well? Are there any particular gaps? Any required changes or additions should be discussed and agreed here.

4 Arrangements for Monitoring/ Review

(Either specify review date, with reasons, or that review will revert to normal procedures as no ongoing risk/ risk is managed acceptably)

9. APPENDIX B: PROCESS FLOWCHART

NOTE: The flowchart on the following page is designed to provide a simple graphical representation of the large scale investigation process. It cannot cover all possible eventualities, and staff are advised to consult the whole procedure rather than rely on the diagram alone.

NATURE OF ADULT PROTECTION CONCERNS

What behaviour, allegation, complaint, circumstances or event has prompted this investigation?

[Detail the nature of the behaviour or incidents which put the person(s) at risk, e.g. the nature and extent of sexual/physical/financial harm; the specific areas of self-neglect (eating, medication, wandering etc.).]

Who is the source of the concerns/allegations?

[List clearly who has reported the concerns, when, and in what capacity]

When have these concerns/allegations occurred – and how often?

[Clearly state whether the concerns/allegations raised pertain to an isolated incident or ongoing/repeating instances. If there is a known pattern to the concerns/allegation (i.e. every morning, every week, and every pension day) – state this.]

Themes or circumstances that have been identified

(In order to gain a greater overview of the care establishment functioning & their ability to meet resident's needs)
Consideration should be given to (this is not an exhaustive list) : Physical environment, staffing, communication, personal care, hydration, weight / nutrition, oral care, keyworker / named nurse, handling, continence management, staff training, resident activities, laundry, medication management , positional changes, case recording, wound management.

DETAILS OF INVESTIGATION

(How the investigation was undertaken)

RECORD OF INTERVIEW

This section should record the information gained during an Adult Protection interview with relevant professionals

Council Officers are reminded that for all interviews:

- 1. The purpose of the interview must be explained clearly to the adult.*
- 2. There must be TWO professionals in attendance for all interviews – the Council Officer and an additional person from a statutory agency.*

A separate record should be completed for each interview conducted.

Capacity is the ability to understand information relevant to a particular decision or action; understand the benefits, risks and alternatives of the decision; ability to weigh up the possible outcomes in order to arrive at a decision; ability to communicate the decision to others, ability to remember the decision or show consistency in decision making and ability to act on the decision.
This tool aims to assist the practitioner consider the various elements involved in the decision making process. It may be used to gather evidence of an adult having or lacking capacity in relation to specific decisions and also to consider whether a more formal assessment is required in order to pursue measures under the Adult with Incapacity (Scotland) Act 2000.
Details of the Decision to be made
Details of the adults views on the decision to be made or action to be taken
Who was consulted in forming your opinion of the adult's decision-making ability?
Name	Relationship with Adult	Contact Details	View

Q: Does the adult have a mental disorder (diagnosed or suspected) or he/she is unable to communicate because of a physical disability?	Yes	No	Not Sure	For example: dementia, learning disability, brain injury, personality disorder, neurological condition, mental illness etc.	Condition

If you have answered No to this question a capacity assessment is not applicable, however an adult may still be unable to safeguard themselves and appropriate Adult Support and Protection measures should be considered.

Q1: Do you consider the adult able to understand the information relevant to the decision? Has this information been provided in way that he/she is able to understand?	Yes	No	Not Sure	For example: a lady with learning disabilities who has never managed her own finances may need to receive information in an accessible manner. Information may need to be repeated.	Supporting Evidence
Q2: Do you consider the adult able to retain the information for long enough to use it in order to make a choice or an effective decision?	Yes	No	Not Sure	An adult may need to be asked on several occasions to confirm the consistency of their response. Where a person has difficulty remembering the decision but answers	Supporting Evidence

				consistently this makes their decision valid.
Q3: Do you consider the adult able to use or weigh information about the decision as part of the process of making the decision?	Yes	No	Not Sure	This may include understanding the consequences of the decision for themselves and others and weighing up the possible outcomes in order to arrive at a decision.	Supporting Evidence
Q4: Do you consider the adult able to communicate the decision?	Yes	No	Not Sure	Every effort should be made to facilitate communication including talking mats, sign language, interpreter, engaging Speech and Language Therapy etc.	Supporting Evidence
Q5: Do you consider the adult able to act upon the decision?	Yes	No	Not Sure	A person may show good reasoning and ability to understand and make the decision however when confronted with the situation, may not be able to use this reasoning to act, due to mental illness or cognitive impairment.	Supporting Evidence

				For example: an adult with hoarding disorder may have shown capacity to understand and make a decision about others assisting with tidying however does not act on his/her decision by allowing entry to his/her home, due to emotional response associated with their hoarding disorder For example: an adult with brain injury and executive functioning difficulties may have shown capacity to understand and make decisions about day to day budgeting however when shopping in town spends a month's allowance on new clothes due to difficulties inhibiting response in the situation.
Q6: Overall, do you consider on the balance of probability that the impairment or disability is sufficient that the adult lacks the capacity to make this particular decision?	Yes	No	Not Sure	Any additional supporting evidence
Any Further Comments

If you have answered YES consistently to Q1-Q5, and NO to Q6, the adult is considered on the balance of probability, to have the capacity to make this particular decision at this time.

Sign/date this form and record the outcome within the adult's records

If you have answered NO please follow appropriate legislation

If you have answered NOT SURE to any of the questions proceed to Q7 – Q8.

Q7: Does the adult repeatedly make seemingly unwise decisions which place her/him at significant risk or serious exploitation? Is she/he making a decision which defies all notion of rationality and/or is markedly out of character?	Yes	No	Not Sure	An unwise or eccentric choice doesn't necessarily mean the person is unable to make a decision – consider the person's views, values, preferences and previous decisions.	Supporting Evidence
Q8: Do you consider the adult to have experienced undue pressure around the decision/ actions?	Yes	No	Not Sure	Undue pressure involves one person taking advantage of a position of power over another person. This inequity in power between the parties can overrule one party's consent as they are unable to freely exercise their independent will. This can be due to trust or fear.	Supporting Evidence

Q9: Have efforts been made to support the person to make the decision themselves?	Yes	No	Not Sure	Interventions can be used to improve an individuals' <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ability to make decisions' • Memory or attention • Ability to organise and process information e.g. Speech and Language Therapy, Advocacy, Assisted Communication Aids, Translators and neuropsychology 	Supporting Evidence

Grampian Referral Guidance for requesting a Capacity Assessment

The GP or relevant team will consider referrals to assess capacity to make specific decisions, where there is uncertainty and/or complexity. We support multi-disciplinary and multi-agency groups of professionals considering questions of capacity in advance of such a referral, but where no consensus can be reached we would consider requesting a capacity referral for assessment.

Any referral for assessment of capacity should be:

- Specific with regard to a particular decision to be made

- Focused, rather than a number of questions we would encourage referrers to focus on one or two questions which need examined
- Timely, i.e., assessed at the time the person is required to make the decision
- With a clear potential outcome, such as considering Guardianship under the Adults with Incapacity (Scotland) Act 2000

It is important that a person has been given information regarding their choices to allow them the opportunity to make a fully informed decision. The Decision- Specific Screening Tool is to be completed by the referrer and will aid in providing clarity regarding the individual's capacity to make particular decisions.

Who would undertake a further assessment of capacity if an adult's decision making ability is still unclear following completion of Decision-Specific Screening Tool?

Each referral will be discussed and allocated to the most appropriate professional. Input may be multidisciplinary, requiring specific input from particular professionals e.g. speech and language therapy, clinical psychology. Of note, assessments may take some time to complete, depending on the complexity and engagement of the person being assessed.

Please note interventions that can be used to improve an individual's capacity e.g. engaging Speech and Language Therapy must be considered before requesting a Capacity Assessment.

Additionally if you have answered YES to questions 1-5 and NO to question 6 and still have concerns regarding the adult's vulnerability follow appropriate Adult Support and Protection referral processes.

12 Requesting Information from Health Records

The Adult Support and Protection Information Sharing Protocol (ASP ISP) sets out the procedure for sharing information between the partnership organisations in respect of adults who are known, or suspected to be at risk of harm, otherwise known as “Adults at Risk of Harm”.

An “Adult at Risk” is defined as an adult who meets the criteria below:

- is unable to safeguard their own well-being, property, rights or other interests; and
- is at risk of harm; and
- because they are affected by disability, mental disorder, illness or physical or mental infirmity, are more vulnerable to being harmed than adults who are not so affected.

The definition of “harm” is that defined in section 53 of the 2007 Act, namely;
“All harmful conduct and, in particular, includes-

- (a) conduct which causes physical harm
- (b) conduct which causes psychological harm (for example: causing fear, alarm or distress),
- (c) unlawful conduct which appropriates or adversely effects property, rights or interests (for example: theft, fraud, embezzlement or extortion),
- (d) conduct which causes self-harm”.

The ASP ISP operates in conjunction with the Grampian Data Sharing Partnership Memorandum of Understanding for the Sharing of Information and the Grampian Interagency Guidance for Adult Support and Protection.

As part of their legal duty, health staff will be sharing information in a range of ways as detailed in the ASP ISP, including when attending Adult Protection Meetings and/or Adult Protection Case Conferences.

Appropriate proactive involvement of health staff supporting Adults at Risk of Harm will minimise the need for Council Officers to request access to information held in health records.

Section 10(1) of the Adult Support and Protection Act (Scotland) 2007 states that “a Council Officer may require any person holding health, financial or other records on an individual the officer knows or believes to be an adult at risk to give the records, or copies of them, to the officer.”

Prior to requesting access to information held in a health record under the 2007 Act the Council Officer should seek authorisation from:

Aberdeen City Council Adult Protection Unit Coordinator AdultProtection@aberdeencity.gov.uk

Aberdeenshire Council Adult Protection Team Manager adultprotectionnetwork@aberdeenshire.gov.uk

Moray Council Adult Protection Consultant Practitioner accesscareteam@moray.gov.uk

An adult’s consent should be sought and recorded.

Consent is preferred and is good practice but if it is not obtained, or is refused, this does not automatically provide a barrier against sharing information about the adult.

It may not be possible to obtain consent where:

- the adult lacks the mental capacity to consent;
- the person acting as proxy with the relevant powers for an adult lacking capacity is unavailable or unwilling to give consent; or
- the situation is so urgent that attempting to obtain consent would cause undue delay.
- the purpose of the disclosure would be undermined for example by prejudicing the prevention or detection of a crime
- the consent would put someone at risk of serious harm

Existing law allows information to be disclosed without consent where such disclosure is required by law (either a court order or statute) or where such disclosure is in the public interest. If it is the public interest test that is relied upon, then such disclosure must be proportionate to the harm it is being sought to prevent.

The Council Officer will complete the attached form. This form should be signed by the Team Leader/ Manager and the Council Officer and sent to the relevant health professional(s) with this guidance sheet attached for information.

A copy of the form should be placed in the client's file.

When a Council Officer requests access to information in health records they should explain:

- what information they need;
- why they need it;
- what they will do with the information;
- who the information will be shared with;

Information should only be shared with those who need to know and only if it is relevant to the particular concern identified. The amount of information shared should be proportionate to addressing the concern.

Accessing Information in NHS Grampian Health Records

Health records may only be inspected by a registered health professional for example a doctor, nurse or midwife.

Health records are any record made by or on behalf of a health professional relating to an individual's physical or mental health. Records include notes written by GPs, Nurses, and Allied Health Professionals either written or electronic.

Section 49 of the Act states it is an offence of obstruction for a person to fail to comply with a requirement to provide information under Section 10. Reasonable efforts should be made to resolve disagreements through informal means before considering any legal action. Any concerns regarding access to NHS Grampian's Health Records should be directed to the Information Governance Department.

Completed forms should be sent to the relevant Lead/Chief Nurse. If there are records by a large number of different health professionals that span more than one area, for example Primary Care; Acute and/or Mental Health – please request that the Health and Social Care Lead Nurse be the one point of contact to facilitate collation of all relevant information.

Accessing information from General Practitioner (GP) Health Records

Designated Agency Application for Disclosure of Information under Sections 4 and 10 of the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007

The Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007 (the Act) gives councils and other public bodies working with them various powers to support and protect adults at risk (as defined by the Act).

The Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007, (the Act) confers on 'Council Officers' a duty to investigate cases of suspected harm to an 'adult at risk'. As part of this investigation, financial records pertaining to the adult at risk can be requested. Bodies holding these records have a legal duty to co-operate with the investigation. Failure to do so can amount to the commission of an offence under the Act making the individual liable on summary conviction to a fine or imprisonment.

"Council Officer" means an individual appointed by a council (local authority) under section 64 of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973. The Council Officer submitting this request is registered with the appropriate professional body as a Social Worker, Occupational Therapist or Nurse. They have been delegated the statutory responsibility of Council Officer by the Chief Social Work Officer of [insert agency].

Section 4 of the Act states that a council [or delegated agency] must make inquiries about a person's wellbeing, property or financial affairs if it knows or believes that the person is an adult at risk, and that it might need to intervene to protect their wellbeing, property or financial affairs. As part of this process, Section 10 of the Act stipulates: A Council Officer may require any person holding health, financial or other records relating to an individual whom the officer knows or believes to be an adult at risk to give the records, or copies of them, to the officer. Where there is any dubiety about the identification of the Council Officer the financial institution will verify this.

Section 3 of the Act defines an 'adult at risk' as an individual aged 16 or over who is unable to safeguard their own well-being, property, rights or other interests and is at risk of harm. In such instances and where the person is more vulnerable because of a disability, disorder, illness or infirmity, the Act can be used to protect them.

The request does not require the consent of the individual, any financial power of attorney or financial guardian before the required information is provided, as in some circumstances the adult in question may be placed at greater risk of harm. Under section 49(2) of the Act it is an offence for a person or an organisation to fail to comply with a requirement made under section 10, without reasonable excuse. Whilst you will be concerned about customer confidentiality, it is important to note that NOT sharing this information may place the adult at further risk of harm. Please refer to your internal guidance.

Any information received in the course of an investigation is treated with the utmost confidence and will not be disclosed to any third parties other than in accordance with the provisions of the above Act and other relevant legal requirements.

For the avoidance of doubt, data processing in relation to this request is necessary for compliance with legal obligations [sections 4, 10 and 49(2) of the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007] to which the data controller [the local authority, the Council Officer and the financial institution in receipt of this request] is subject.² Financial Institutions could also rely on Article 6(1) (e) of the GDPR, as read with section 8(c) of the DPA, namely the necessity of processing for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller, as a lawful basis for processing (i.e. passing on) personal data to a local authority.

Where data sharing is necessary to ensure safeguarding but is not specifically covered by ASPA, legal advice should be sought.

Should you be unfamiliar with the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007, you can view a copy of it at: <http://www.legislation.gov.uk/asp/2007/10/contents>

²If the records in question contain 'special categories of personal data', in addition to identifying a lawful basis for processing data under Article 6 of the GDPR, an additional condition under Article 9 (2) of GDPR must also be met in order to share data lawfully. Special Category data includes: Racial or ethnic origin; Political opinions; Religious or philosophical beliefs; Trade Union Membership; Genetic data; Biometric data (when used for ID purposes); Health (physical or mental); and, Sexual life or orientation. If the financial institution is complying with a Section 10 request under the Act, the Article 9 (2) condition will likely be: (b) Processing is necessary for the purposes of carrying out the obligations an exercising specific rights of the controller or of the data subject in the field of employment and social security and social protection law in so far as it is authorised by (UK) law. Section 10(2) of the DPA then requires a further condition in Part 1 of Schedule 1 of the DPA to be met, for example that in paragraph 1: Employment, social security and social protection.

Council Officer Guidance Notes

The wording and ordering of this document has been approved by national agreement with Social Work Scotland. If issues arise with the structure of the form please advise your lead officer for adult protection in order that any amendments can be considered at national level.

Please use this template in conjunction with the Adult Support and Protection \(Scotland\) Act 2007 Code of Practice \(April 2014\) especially noting chapter ten.

It is essential at this point that you identify the correct legal entity to address your request to. The name of the legal entity may be different to that of the company you are contacting and may also change over time. Some financial institutions may provide a central point and others local or regional contacts. Ascertaining the correct person, title and address will save time and allow the financial institution to provide you with the fullest level of detail.

The request should use the locally agreed logo or logos and be accompanied by the Information Sheet. Where the functions of a local authority have been delegated to your agency under Section 1(5) of the Public Bodies (Joint Working) (Scotland) Act 2014 please indicate in your request which local authority has delegated that power to your agency.

Where requests are made electronically the Council Officer must ensure that the information is sent and received securely.

Name of Customer	Full name and any known pseudonyms listed separately e.g. Mary McTavish May McTavish
Date of Birth (if available)	Please state in full e.g. 22 nd July 1952
Address (if available)
Account Names, Numbers and Sort Codes (if available)
Brief Description of the ASPA Inquiry	Basic information only to demonstrate that there is a risk or potential risk which has triggered an ASPA inquiry. This may assist the financial institution in locating the type of information required. NB Where you have concerns regarding a financial proxy do not state these, however do advise that your request should not be shared with them.
Financial Information that is required (please include any third party mandates relating to the accounts located):	The information requested must be specific as opposed to generic. Ensure you emphasise the need to provide any information about third party mandates. Requests for 'all statements' will not be accepted. Consider the issues the service user is facing and what material over what period may support your inquiry. Where you are unclear about the types of information the financial institution may hold use the 'verbal' option to seek advice as to what may be available to support your inquiry. Examples include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the balance of Ms XXXX' account(s) • any current Standing Orders or Direct Debits (including to whom payable, regularity and amounts) • Statements covering the period • We should also wish to request similar information for any other account in her name of which we are unaware." • Whetherholds a Bank or Building Society account with your bank? • If so, whether any other persons are signatories to his/her account(s)? • Please provide copy statements in relation to any accounts held byeither jointly or solely for the lastmonths • Similar information regarding any other account held in this name. • Any known liabilities/debts/mortgages etc. • Any relevant financial information held in wills • Any accounts in other names e.g. joint accounts

Information Format required	It is likely that most institutions will only provide information in hard copy due to potential security issues with electronic transmission of personal information.
Information required by	In some circumstances this will be urgent and it may be useful to state the reasons the information is required quickly and facilitate a verbal information exchange. In other circumstances please indicate in your request the required time frame e.g. 7, 14 or 21 calendar days.
Council Officer's Details and Signature	Name, position, organisation, address, email address, telephone number and signature. Please DO NOT provide a direct dial contact in the first instance.

Use of Information Received Under Section 10

It is essential to note that information received must not be distributed in its original form to third parties. It must only be used to inform protection planning. For example, bank statements obtained should not be distributed as this may be neither relevant nor proportionate. Others only need to understand that harm has been substantiated. However, sharing an assessment or actions required based upon the information received may be relevant and proportionate but should not refer to exact amounts or details. Where a crime has been committed this may not apply. If in doubt please check your local data protection policy.

Where a Section 10 Request is Refused

- i. Request that the company/organisation provide their reasons promptly in writing if they have not done so.
- ii. Discuss the issue with your line manager and consider a request to your legal services department. This request should be based around the need to formally contact the organisation re-emphasising the legal basis of the request, the fact that inaction can lead to further harm and may be an offence under Section 49 (2) of the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007.
- iii. Record the initial refusal, reasons given and the actions and outcomes thereafter.

14 Risk Assessment

Adult Protection Risk Assessment Guidance Notes

Introduction

Risk is the possibility of harm occurring and the severity of that harm. Risk assessment is the process of identifying risk and enabling decisions to be taken about whether new or improved risk controls, or protective measures, are required. Effective person-focused risk assessment relies on the active participation of all agencies/teams involved. Legislation requires that risk assessment be “suitable and sufficient”. This means that the degree of effort put into risk assessment needs to be proportionate to the risk involved.

Informal risk assessments are carried out every day upon both professional and personal experience, enabling risk to be recognised and necessary precautions to be taken. These everyday judgements and decisions are an individual’s responsibility and a core professional competence which underpins everything we do. Formal risk assessments are a documented evaluation of risk including potential severity of consequences and the likelihood of such an occurrence along with the preventative and protective measures in place to control the risk. The aim is to weigh up whether existing support is adequate or whether more should be done to reduce the risk to an acceptable level through improved protective measures or contingency plans.

Risk assessments must be shared between all agencies/ teams involved to ensure the consistency of response and of care provided. A multi-agency risk assessment enables commitment of all involved to implement and comply with any protective measures agreed as essential to ensure the Health & Safety of the adult, staff, and any other persons who could be affected. In respect of environmental or low level personal risks the risk assessment forms may be completed by one member of staff. The multi disciplinary Adult Protection risk assessment must be completed by a multi-disciplinary group.

The Risk Assessment form should be used to identify and evaluate all significant risks associated with the adult, and to record all agreed protective measures necessary.

It is recognised that it can be a challenge to balance the positive benefits of taking risks with protection. The principles of the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007 must be adhered to.

Preliminary Risk Identification Form

This optional form is a tool to identify and prioritise all the specific issues under consideration. An individual member of staff can complete it. A single or a number of risks can be assessed. You should note if the potential risk exists or not. If the adult is identified as an adult at risk of harm then any risk identified on this form should be discussed at a multi-agency meeting and the joint protection risk assessment form and protection plan should be completed.

Adult Protection Risk Assessment Form

This risk assessment form should be completed prior, during or immediately following an adult protection case conference, if requested by the chair of the adult protection case conference, or may be an action arising from an adult protection case conference.

It is important that those who are aware of the risks are part of the risk assessment process. This may include professionals, hands-on carers, the police, legal advisers, family members, the adult her/ himself. The person organising the risk assessment should take time to consider who should be invited to ensure that an open and honest discussion takes place. They should carefully consider the pros and cons of having family members and the adult themselves present as this may impede full discussion or may cause the adult undue distress.

This joint Risk Assessment is a generic process which facilitates the sharing of concerns, the agreement of how risk can be managed and the acceptability or not of the presenting risks. It is possible, as part of this process, that the need for other specialist risk assessments may be identified.

Where a risk has been identified on the preliminary risk identification form this should then be transferred to the Risk Assessment Form using the same issue number. Alternatively the potential risk can be identified within the assessment team. In the “risk present box” where a risk is present, you should tick the box and identify who is at risk using the following keys - S = staff member; C = client; O = other.

The details of the risk should be noted. The existing control measures which are currently in place should then be recorded in the “existing control measures” column. In this column you should also evaluate and clearly record the effectiveness of these existing measures – are the measures: effective, partially effective or not effective at all. Using the Risk Assessment Matrix identify the most predictable severity of the consequences of the event in question and note this. Similarly note the level of likelihood of the event occurring. You will then be able to identify the risk rating by finding where the “likelihood” column and the “consequences” row cross over. For example, an event which is likely to occur which has a moderate level of severity of consequences has a risk rating of high.

There maybe times when the ability to reduce the risk is not possible e.g. when the maximum amount of support is already in place. This should be clearly recorded and if necessary escalated as per local processes.

Additional measures required to minimise risk should then be identified. It is perhaps helpful to think about what can you eliminate, reduce or further control the risk. Are there ways of improving monitoring, procedures, recording, communication, training, systems of work or organisational management. This will, along with existing controls, define how you will reduce and maintain the risk to a minimum.

The final risk rating completed using the same method as above by anticipating the impact the measures will have once they are put in place.

Where the final risk rating is high or above local escalation process will apply.

Protection Plan

The Protection Plan can then be completed at the Case Conference, taking into account the Risk Assessment. This details the actions to be carried out to ensure the additional control measures are put in place, by whom, the target date for completion and the actual date completed. Some actions may be required on an on going basis.

The protection plan should also include who is responsible for reviewing the risk assessment and the target date for this.

The Council Officer should also sign and date the form.

When reviews are carried out, the date it was due to happen, the date it was actually carried out and by whom should be noted in the review table. The Protection Plan should be updated to take account of any changes necessary following the review. The Risk Assessment can be shared with other professionals/staff involved in an individual's care if appropriate e.g. a risk assessment regarding swimming at an agreed facility should be shared with all those who support the individual in that activity

Inappropriate physical contact such as slap, punch, kick that does not lead to injury	Notable injury requiring first aid or medical attention	Significant but not permanent injury resulting from physical harm. More than one incident of physical harm.	Significant and long lasting /permanent injury.	Death, major permanent incapacity.
Financial exploitation having no impact on welfare.	Financial harm with minimal impact on personal welfare	Financial harm significantly impacting on personal welfare.	Depletion of funds to point where person is unable to meet their basic needs e.g. food, heating, housing etc.
Omission of care with no impact.	Omission of care being provided resulting in distressed presentation by individual. (Continence pad not being changed)	Some level of neglect or lack of recognition of deterioration/need for support, causing pain, discomfort, distress or loss of independence.	Significant neglect requiring hospitalization or significant medical intervention.	Death. Major permanent incapacity.
Behavior which could be perceived as offensive with no impact on the person's psychological wellbeing.	Behavior which has minimal impact on psychological wellbeing.	Behavior which causes notable psychological harm.	Behavior which results in significant psychological harm and a short-term need for therapeutic /psychiatric intervention.	Long term trauma requiring intensive therapeutic /psychiatric intervention..
Inappropriate sexualized language used in presence of the person.	Inappropriate sexualized language directed at the person resulting in them feeling uncomfortable.	Non penetrative sexual harm with psychological impact.	Penetrative sexual abuse.
	Risk to other vulnerable members of the community.

Context

The above are meant as examples only. As part of the assessment, consideration should be given to whether the harm:

- is historical or current.
- is repetitive.
- has been the result of a power imbalance.
- has been carried out by a member of staff.

Consideration should also be given to the impact on the adult and how they perceive it.

15. Serious Case Review/Case Review Protocol

GRAMPIAN ADULT PROTECTION COMMITTEES SERIOUS CASE REVIEW AND CASE REVIEW PROTOCOL

Introduction and Definitions

Introduction

Paragraph 18 of the Scottish Government document, 'Guidance for Adult Protection Committees', which was produced subsequently to the implementation of the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007, states:

'The Act does not require Adult Protection Committees (APCs) to become involved in individual case reviews. APCs have a strategic and monitoring function rather than an operational role and therefore routine case reviews may well be seen as inappropriate. However, joint consideration of individual cases may help APC members to develop greater joint understanding of service user concerns and professional practice. While there is no duty to do so, APCs are encouraged to evaluate and learn from critical incidents.'

Paragraph 49 of the Act adds:

'APCs may decide to audit particular aspects of support and protection activity, to commission or engage in occasional case reviews (particularly when there have been critical incidents) or to commission research on particular aspects of protection work.'

In response to this, the three APCs in Grampian have agreed to the development of a Serious Case Review (SCR) Protocol to:

- clarify the referral process;
- define how reviews will be managed;
- decide how completed reviews are communicated; and
- decide how recommendations are actioned.

This document sets out how the SCR process will be implemented by the Chief Officers' Public Protection Groups (PPG) and Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire and Moray Adult Protection Committees (APCs). The APCs have specific responsibility for the oversight of SCRs. The shared Independent Convener reports to the PPG. Each APC reports to the Scottish Government, on a biennial basis. The Grampian Adult Support and Protection Working Group will review this Protocol on behalf of the PPG and APCs.

The key messages from SCRs for each APC area will be included within the biennial report for each APC. The agreed recommendations will be incorporated into the Action Plan for each APC.

A SCR protocol was initially produced by the Grampian Adult Protection Working Group in June 2009 to enable the APC's in Grampian to undertake SCRs. This document is the first revision of the protocol which was undertaken in Aug 2015. The protocol was reviewed to take account of growing experience and knowledge and to enable different levels of case review to be considered by the APC's in Grampian.

Objectives of a Case Review

The overarching objectives of Case Reviews are to:

- Establish whether there are lessons to be learned about how better to support and protect adults at risk of harm, and help ensure they get the help they need when they need it;
- Learn and improve services as well as recognise good practice;
- Make recommendations for actions, if and when appropriate (Note - immediate action to improve service or professional shortcomings should not await the outcome of a formal review);
- Consider how any findings, recommended actions and learning will be implemented;
- Address the requirement to be accountable, both at the level of the responsible agencies/authorities and the professional groups involved;
- Increase public confidence in public services, providing a level of assurance about how those services acted in relation to a significant case about an adult at risk;

Reviews should be viewed as a process for learning and improving public protection.

This guidance supports the achievement of these objectives by helping those responsible for reviews to:

- Undertake them at a level which is necessary, reasonable and proportionate;
- Adopt a consistent, transparent and structured approach;
- Identify the skills, experience and knowledge that are needed for the review process and consider how these might be obtained;
- Address the needs of the many different people and agencies who may have a legitimate interest in the process and its outcome; and
- Take account of the evidence.

This guidance sets out:

- The different levels of case reviews that can be undertaken;
- The criteria for identifying whether a case is serious;
- The procedure for undertaking an initial case review (ICR);
- The process for conducting a case review including reporting mechanisms and dissemination of learning; and
- Tools to support the process of conducting a case review including ICR's and SCR's.

The assumption throughout this guidance is that the APC should proceed as speedily as feasible at all stages of a case review, and that agencies should do the same. This is important in reducing stress on the adult (if they are still living), their family, their carers and on the staff involved. However the complexity or circumstances of certain cases may result in preferred timescales not being met.

Levels of Review

The purpose of a case review is to establish whether there are lessons to be learned about how better to support and protect adults at risk of harm – reviews should be viewed as a process for learning and improving public protection.

Reviews should be undertaken at a level which is necessary, reasonable and proportionate and should not be escalated to what is beyond proportionate.

Definitions and Criteria

Adult at Risk of Harm

The Act defines an 'adult at risk' as a person aged 16 years or over who:

- is unable to safeguard her/his own wellbeing, property, rights or other interests; and
- is at risk of harm; AND
- because they are affected by disability, mental disorder, illness or physical or mental infirmity are more vulnerable to being harmed than adults who are not so affected.

The presence of a particular condition does not automatically mean an adult is an 'adult at risk'. An adult may have a disability but be able to safeguard their wellbeing etc.

It is important to stress that all three elements of this definition must be met. It is the whole of an adult's particular circumstances that can combine to make them more vulnerable to harm than others.

An adult is at risk of harm if:

- another person's conduct is causing (or is likely to cause) the adult to be harmed, OR
- she/he is engaging (or is likely to engage) in conduct which causes (or is likely to cause) self-harm.

Serious Case Review

The criteria for referral are as follows:

When an adult at risk of harm dies and the incident or accumulation of incidents gives rise to serious concerns about professional and/or service involvement or lack of involvement, and one or more of the following apply:

- harm is known or suspected to be a significant factor in the adult's death; or
- the death is by suicide or accidental death; or
- the death is by alleged murder, culpable homicide, reckless conduct, wilful neglect or an act of violence;

A referral may also be made where an adult at risk of harm has not died but has sustained serious harm or is at risk of serious harm and in addition to this the incident or accumulation of incidents gives rise to serious concerns about professionals and or service involvement or lack of involvement.

The Adult Protection Case Review Process in Grampian

Who can refer?

Any agency can ask for a case to be considered for review by an APC. Referrals should be made via the agency's lead representative on the APC. A family cannot ask for a review, any concerns raised by families should be addressed through relevant agencies' normal complaints procedures.

How to refer

If the case is high profile or is likely to attract media attention the agency's lead representative and the APC Independent Convener must be informed immediately.

The Referrer, following discussion with their line manager, should send the referral to the agency's lead representative on the APC using the Initial Case Review template (Annex 2). The agency lead will forward the Initial Case Review Template to the local administrator and the co-ordinator.

Initial Case Review (ICR)

An Initial Case Review (ICR) should always be undertaken and is an opportunity for the APC to consider relevant information, determine the course of action and decide whether an SCR or other response is required. The ICR process is summarised below. An ICR should not be escalated beyond what is proportionate, taking account of the severity and complexity of the case and the process and its timescales should not detract from agencies taking whatever urgent action is required to protect any others who may be at risk.

Where time limits are referred to it is important that they are adhered to. If there is good reason for delay, the report should record the reason for that delay.

Step 1: Potential case notified to APC as soon as practicable after the event or when a series of events suggests a case review may be appropriate. The initial case review notification form should be used (Annex 2)

When complete, the initial case review notification form should be passed to the local SCR Administrator who will:

- log the notification, which will be given a unique numbered identifier;
- inform SCR co-ordinator;
- notify and request information from all agencies or individuals involved with the adult using the ICR report template (Annex 3); and
- send an acknowledgement to the referrer that the notification has been received.

The above actions should be completed within 7 days of the notification being received.

Step 2: Agencies gather information and submit a report(s) to the APC mandated sub group. This group will comprise of members from Social Work, Health and Police. Reports will be submitted as soon as possible but no longer than 28 calendar days using the ICR Report template (Annex 3, Part B).

If agencies cannot reasonably complete the ICR Report for the APC within the suggested times, the reasons for this should be recorded as per organisational procedures.

Step 3: The mandated sub group meets to consider the information as soon as possible. Within 14 days of the ICR information being provided, the mandated sub group, convenes to consider agency/service information. Having a considered chronology and a timeline for this stage can help with decision making and identifying information gaps. The output of the meeting will be either:

- Further information required to enable a recommendation – set timescale for completion and supplementary meeting;
- sufficient information available to enable recommendation to progress to case review;
- no further action.

Where a recommendation is made to progress to a case review this decision and a terms of reference will be submitted to the APC (Annex 4)

Decisions and reasons will be recorded on the ICR Report (Annex 3, Part C)

Step 4: The mandated sub group make a recommendation to the APC whether or not to proceed to a significant case review (SCR):

An SCR should only be undertaken when the criteria are met; where there is potential for significant corporate learning; and where an SCR is in the public interest and in the best interests of the adult and their family. If there is no clear consensus within the APC as to whether or not to progress to an SCR, the final decision rests with the APC Convener.

The APC may decide that no SCR is needed but follow-up action by one or more agencies is required. This may be the case if, for example, there has been a misunderstanding of guidance, or if local protocols need to be reinforced. The APC may want to draw appropriate guidance to staff's attention or review training or protocols on a particular theme. They may also decide to initiate local action to rectify an immediate issue or to undertake single agency action. Follow-up action should be agreed and scheduled into the APC's action plan.

Where the APC is satisfied there are no concerns and there is no scope for significant corporate/multi-agency learning or it is clear that appropriate action has already been taken they may decide to take no further action.

Decisions and reasons will be recorded on the ICR Report (Annex 3, Part D)

Step 5: Ratification of decision

The APC should inform the Chief Officers Group of the outcome of an ICR.

Discussion/comments of the Chief Officers should be recorded in ICR Report (Annex 3, Part E)

Step 6: Notification and recording of decisions

The APC should maintain a register of all potentially significant cases referred to it. This allows for evidencing the decisions made; monitoring the progress of the reviews; monitoring and reviewing the implementation of recommendations; and identifying contextual trends (such as prevalence of substance misuse).

A written record of the decision (Annex 3, part B) should be sent to all agencies directly involved with the Adult and recorded in the Adult's case files.

If a decision is made to proceed to a Case Review, the APC should advise the Adult, if appropriate their family/carers of the APC's intentions. (see page 16)

Considerations to be made by APC following a decision that an Case Review is appropriate

Criminal Investigation

Once the SCR has been presented, if there is an element of criminality Police Scotland will progress the investigation accordingly. The SCR will normally be suspended until Police Scotland has completed their investigation.

Methodology

APCs should always consider and agree the methodology to be used in undertaking case reviews. Evidence-based methodologies should be used, for example root cause analysis.

Root Cause Analysis (RCA) techniques are used to understand the underlying causes of incidents rather than identifying individual failure. The RCA model has been adapted for use in health and social care settings. It takes into account the active failures of frontline staff to follow a prescribed course of action and also considers latent failures, well-intentioned but, in hindsight, faulty management decisions by senior management, and other contributory factors such as staff shortages, poor communication, busy work environment, emotional state of staff member, education and training. As such, this is a system-based approach which seeks not only to clarify the direct actions leading to the incident but the contribution made by the wider organisational context.

Identify who undertakes the review

The APC will need to consider whether an SCR should be led internally, internally with some external overview or externally. APCs need to ensure that the lead reviewer and the review team, between them, have the necessary skills and competencies to undertake the review. These skills will differ according to the circumstances of each case and the agreed role of the review team. Annex 5 provides a 'person specification' list for a lead reviewer.

External Reviews

Where an external review is commissioned, the SCR continues to be owned by the APC. The Chief Officers Group/APC should agree any formal contractual arrangements that may be required, along with appropriate legal advice. They should consider which agencies will enter into the contract and ensure that individuals have professional indemnity cover. Consideration should be given to involving legal services in drawing up formal contracts covering areas like timescales, fees and confidentiality.

Any contract should also include explicit instructions on the access to, storage, transport, transmission, and disposal of sensitive personal information as required by the Data Protection Act. For the purpose of the SCR, the lead reviewer is a data processor, not a data controller and will not need to be registered with the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO). This is because they are acting on the instructions of the APC, representing the Chief Office Group. There is further information on the role and responsibilities of a Data Processor in ICO guidance.

The ICO Data Sharing Code of Practice details the circumstances where a data sharing agreement or contract may be required. This will be of particular relevance where there are a number of agencies inputting to the SCR.

Regardless of whether the lead reviewer is internal or external, the APC will wish to set out clear expectations in respect of timescales, milestones in the process and deadlines for completion of reports.

Information Sharing

All information shared must be relevant and proportionate to the individual concerned. Information about adults at risk may be shared by organisation under the following provisions:

- Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007
- The Data Protection Act 1998
- Common Law of Confidentiality
- The Human Rights Act 1998

For further information sharing please refer to the Grampian Adult at Risk of Harm Information Sharing Protocol.

Terms of Reference

Depending on the comprehensiveness of the information gathered at the ICR stage it may be possible for the mandated subgroup to recommend the terms of reference of the full Case Review for the APC for approval. If there are areas that need further clarification the APC may ask agencies to undertake particular tasks and report back within an agreed timeframe.

The Terms of Reference will:

- be agreed by the APC. This can be reviewed throughout the SCR process but any changes should be agreed by the APC and documented;
- clarify roles and responsibilities across agencies;
- set the time frame the review will cover; and
- be clear and deliverable.

Annex 4 gives an example of a term of reference. It can be adapted to fit with local arrangements and the specific case being considered.

Review team

It is important to establish a team to support the lead reviewer so that agencies feel confident their specialist issues are understood. The APC should ensure there is sufficient multi-agency representation on the review team in order to reflect the particular case. A review team's different perspectives can add to the depth of enquiry. Training or information requirements for the team should be considered.

The team should be agreed at the outset and agreement reached as to roles and responsibilities, who should undertake tasks such as file reading and interviews, and how disputes will be resolved. No one should be involved in a review team if they were directly involved in the case in a professional capacity.

For any review team, it is important to establish whom the key contacts are in all the agencies involved. These could be designated case review contacts that can also advise on, and broker access to, relevant practitioners and information. Additionally, they should be able to provide any relevant agency information (such as protocols/guidance) and generally act as a liaison point. In addition, consideration should be given as to who will make links with relevant interests outside the main statutory agencies. The team will also need to gather evidence from a wide variety of sources and be prepared to negotiate if information is not forthcoming.

Consideration should be given to the skills required in the review team. This will vary according to the case and agreed responsibilities of the team, but APCs, or mandated sub groups, will wish to ensure that the review team has the following skills:

- A knowledge of adult services;
- A knowledge of relevant legislation and policy;

- Investigation skills;
- Analytical and evaluation skills;
- Ability to make sound judgements on information collected;
- Ability to critically analyse all factors that contributed to the significant case and the wider impacts for practice and service delivery where appropriate;
- Ability to liaise with others and establish a good working relationship;
- Ability to demonstrate sensitivity to national and local level issues; and
- An appreciation of the need to be clear about the difference between an case review's remit and tasks as opposed to other ongoing proceedings relating to the case (for example, a criminal investigation).

A review may reveal staff actions or inactions which are of sufficient seriousness that they need to be brought to the attention of the employer. The review team has a duty to do this, irrespective of the case review process.

Resources

Chief Officers have a collective responsibility to ensure their APC's have the resources, including staff time, to fulfil its role and responsibilities when conducting a case review. Chief Officers should, therefore, agree how the review team will be financed and how its expenditure will be managed.

Administrative support should also be agreed, as should practicalities such as accommodation, secure storage of any records shared, and secure access to electronic records.

The Report

It is important that there is a degree of consistency in the structure and content of reports to make it easier for people to identify and use the findings, and for read-across to other reports to be made. The report should, therefore, include the areas outlined in Annex 6.

APCs will consider arrangements for correcting factual errors or misunderstandings in drafts of the report.

If appropriate the lead reviewer will present the final report (and executive summary) to the review team before it is sent to the APC chair for consideration by the APC. This includes both internally- and externally-commissioned reports. The APC should deliver the report to the Chief Officers Group. The APC may ask the lead reviewer to present the report at the Chief Officers/APC meetings.

Freedom of information and Data Protection

The APC should ensure that the review team and lead reviewer take account of the requirements of the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 and the Data Protection Act 1998 in both the conduct and reporting of the review.

Annex 7 contains an extract from an SCR which may be helpful in considering the report structure and content in respect of the Data Protection Act 1998. However, the circumstances of each case will be different and particular consideration should be given to the requirements of the Data Protection Act 1998 on each occasion. Arrangements should be put in place for secure storage and filing of confidential information and files.

These arrangements should also include retention schedules and processes for the destruction of the information when it is no longer needed. These details can be included in data sharing agreements. NHS will wish to seek Caldicott approval in respect of access to any patient files where this is required by the lead reviewer as part of the review process.

Involvement of the adult/family/carers

The adult/family/carers should be kept informed of the various stages of the review as well as the outcomes where appropriate. There will be occasions where the adult/family/carers could be subject to criminal investigation. In these cases, information may need to be restricted. Close collaboration with Police Scotland and the Procurator Fiscal will be vital.

Every effort should be made to involve the adult/families/carers. Case review reports should say whether or not the adult and families/carers were informed and involved. If not, they should record a reason. If they were involved, reports should record the nature of the involvement and document how their views have been represented. Diversity issues should be considered and adequate support should be provided to ensure that the adult, family/carers are able to participate.

Care should be taken about where and when the adult, or their family/carers are interviewed, and ensure any special measures needed are provided, particularly for those who have additional communication needs, (for example, the use of advocacy or interpreter services). If there are, or are likely to be, criminal proceedings or if there is, or likely to be a fatal accident inquiry, the review team must consult with the local COPFS and police prior to any interviews.

A single point of contact for the adult/family/carer should be appointed throughout the review. It is not necessary for this person to be part of the review team.

The person carrying out this liaison role should be fully aware of the sensitivities and background of the case. This person's role could include advising the family of the intention to carry out a case review and making arrangements to interview the adult/family/carers or other significant adults involved.

Depending on the particular case and sensitivities, consideration should be given to arrangements for feedback to the adult/family/carer. This may also include their input to check the accuracy of what is recorded in the interim and/or final report.

Support for staff involved in a review

During the review process staff who have been involved in the case should feel informed and supported by their managers. There may be parallel processes running (such as disciplinary proceedings) as well as the SCR so sensitive handling is important.

Each organisation should have its own procedures in place for supporting staff, but the following should always be considered:

- The health and wellbeing of staff involved;
- Provision of welfare or counselling support;
- Communication with staff and keeping people informed of the process in an open and transparent way;
- Access to legal/professional guidance and support; and
- Time to prepare for interviews and for follow up.

Staff involved in a review should be given this guidance. The lead reviewer should consider what mechanism will be used to enable contributors to check the accuracy of what is recorded as it is drafted for the interim and/or final report. When the review is complete, staff involved in the case should be debriefed before the report and findings are published.

Dissemination and publication

For each individual case review, the APC – in conjunction with the Chief Officers – should consider how to disseminate and publish the report that best serves the public interest and the purpose of improving service delivery.

Media handling

Any protocols/media handling issues should be developed in conjunction with the communications officers for the agency. Before the report is made public, the review team will agree a link with the media on behalf of Chief Officers/APC; brief the relevant communications officer(s); and approve the wording of any quotes.

No information about a case review should be released to the media unless it has been approved by Chief Officers/APC.

The serious case review and the learning cycle

The APC should consider how the analysis and recommendations from a case review can best inform learning and practice.

Any recommendations should be noted and if appropriate monitored by the APC.

Cross-authority Case Reviews

In the case of a potential cross-authority case reviews the relevant APCs should agree a way of joint working and, if required, joint commissioning of a lead reviewer. It may be worth considering a lead reviewer who is independent of the APC areas involved.

	Adult Protection Multi-agency Case Review Agenda

1. Introduction and Apologies

2. Purpose of Case Review (as outlined at APC)

3. Background facts

This should include the family background and circumstances, including agency involvement. A chronology of significant events should also be discussed.

4. Analysis

Critically assess the key circumstances of the case, the interventions offered, decisions made etc. It should always be remembered that the review is taking place with the benefit of hindsight and the analysis should consider the actions of services within the context of the circumstances of the time.

5. Key Issues

Following on from the analysis and depending on the circumstances of the case, the review should clearly identify the key areas that impacted on the adult and agency responses and then explore these further to understand how they came about. The review should discuss the 'why' of what happened and a level of root cause analysis should be applied. It would be helpful to explore key areas within a framework of cause and effect factors – for example, resourcing, organisational culture, training, policies etc.

6. Learning Points

Highlight the key learning points from the review – again the focus here should not be on 'what happened', but the reasons why it happened as it will be these areas that services and organisations can actively take forward and address. Discussion should also actively promote strengths and good practice identified as well as the learning that has taken place since the incident, any changes in practice and policy that have been implemented and the outcome of changes.

7. Recommended Action

Recommended actions should be recorded indicating who is responsible for the action and a timeframe for completion.

The following example provides a framework for APCs in the development of a terms of reference for use during a Case Review. It includes suggested references to the key areas covered in the section Objectives Of The Serious Case Review and can be adapted to fit with local arrangements and the specific case being considered.

Terms of Reference

Introduction

In accordance with the Grampian Adult Protection Committees Serious Case Review and Case Review Protocol the [APC name] has decided to conduct a serious case review following [details of incident].

Decision to hold a serious case review

[Insert full information regarding the reasoning behind decision to hold SCR including both first and second test/criteria for SCR. Also consider inserting text related to commitment to learning and interest from for example media, Scottish Government, Care Inspectorate, local communities]

Purpose of the review

This is an example of suggested wording and should be adapted to reflect your APC position and purpose

The purpose of the review is to establish whether there are corporate lessons to be learned about how better to protect Adults. To that end, the review is a process for learning and improving services and is a means of recognising good practice.

The review will assess the agency and inter-agency decision making and involvement with the family and others relevant to the case.

Time period to be covered

The period to be covered by the review will be from [Insert timeframes]

Methodology

The suggested wording below refers to traditional methods.

Established practices for conducting an SCR should be used, including reviewing case files and records, development of a multi-agency chronology and timeline of what information was known to whom and when, and considering policies and guidance available to staff during the timescales the review will cover.

Any significant risks/needs identified by the lead reviewer during the review process will be reported immediately to the relevant chief officer [The reporting lines may differ and should be agreed on following internal discussions] from the agency concerned.

The lead reviewer will have unrestricted access to policies, protocols, procedures, case records and, at a date to be set, relevant staff. All necessary arrangements will be put in place to facilitate this.

General practitioners and practice staff are independent contractors. Their cooperation will be facilitated by [this should be discussed and agreed internally], as required. This is an example and inclusion will depend on situation.

Administrative support for the lead reviewer will be provided by [This crucial area requires internal discussion and agreement]

Specific issues to be considered in the review

[Insert specifics regarding the key areas to be considered by Lead Reviewer – bullet points may be helpful]

Involvement of family members

Consideration to be given to involvement of family members and carers taking into account any ongoing criminal proceeding and direction from the COPFS.

If appropriate, the lead reviewer will inform the family and identify a liaison person who will provide a link between the family and the review team.

For this matter the family will include [Insert specific info related to your case]

Staff welfare

Full consideration must be given to staff welfare and support throughout the review, particularly for those who had direct involvement in the case and may be interviewed as part of the review process. This will be the responsibility of each service/agency. Consideration should be given to a single point of support for staff. Regular updates to staff should be agreed by the Review Team.

Ethnicity, religion, diversity, gender, disability, language and equalities

The review will take account of any learning in respect of ethnicity, religion, diversity, gender, disability, language and equalities. [This is broad so may need specifics]

Organisations involved in the review

Example wording - the case and local arrangements will inform wording

The following representation should make up the review team as single points of contact from each of the relevant agencies to support the lead reviewer. The lead reviewer will chair this group as appropriate and report to the case review group.

The list will depend on your specific case

Administrative support will be provided to the review team through the [requires internal discussion and agreement]

The review team will act as single points of contact for any information required and will assist in setting up any interviews related to their particular service/agency. The chair of the review team will be the lead reviewer who will report to the case review group.

If any other agencies are known to have had involvement with the family during the period under review, the review team will ask them to provide relevant information as required.

Chief Officers from all partner agencies expect all relevant services to assist in the review process. Any difficulties will be addressed by the lead reviewer through the case review group and if necessary with the relevant chief officer of the agency concerned.

Support to lead reviewer

Example wording- you may have a critical friend(s) arrangement which differs to this

The partners will arrange to provide a critical friend(s) if needed to assist the lead reviewer in their role, as required.

Reporting arrangements

Example wording the case and local arrangements will inform wording

The lead reviewer should complete the agreed template for the review report as shown in Annex 5. Along with the main review, the reviewer will be expected to provide an executive summary. The lead reviewer should ensure that the summary is fully anonymised and written so as to avoid the need for future redactions.

The draft report should be submitted to the case review group for consideration and thereafter to the chair of the APC.

Expert opinion

Wording may differ depending on local arrangements

Although not considered necessary from the outset, the use of expert opinion in a consultative capacity will be kept under review.

Criminal investigations

May or may not apply to your case

Police Scotland is investigating the circumstances of the case and will report to the Procurator Fiscal.

COPFS

May or may not apply to your case

There will be ongoing liaison with COPFS through [named contact who is part of Review Group/Team useful but this will require internal discussion and agreement]

Other parallel reviews

Include whether any parallel reviews are ongoing.

Consideration should be given regarding a joint case review. For example, in the case of 16/17 year olds who are being considered under adult support and Protection, Child Protection Committees will want to liaise closely with APCs to determine if the criteria for an SCR have been met under this guidance, and whether a joint SCR is required.

Media coverage/enquiries

The case and local arrangements will inform wording here

There is high level media interest in the case, locally and nationally. APC have agreed a broad media statement, if this is required. There will be key points as the criminal case proceeds where the media may become involved and ask for information/statements.

There should be no proactive engagement with the media; rather due process should be followed, however, the Review Team and APC should be prepared at key milestones for media requests, in particular any subsequent trial, sentence and the publication of any review.

A single point of contact for media enquiries is to be agreed. [insert person responsible following internal discussion and agreement] will be responsible for the media strategy on behalf of all partners in respect of any queries regarding the SCR and dissemination/publication, following the conclusion of the SCR.

Family members will be informed of the findings of the SCR in advance of publication of the executive summary.

Process and timescales

The case and local arrangements will inform wording here

Appointment of lead reviewer and review team by [insert agreed date]

The first meeting of the review team to take place once the lead reviewer is confirmed. The first meeting with the lead reviewer will scope and agree the process of the review and agree an outline of the work plan and timeline. This will take into account the two distinct phases of the review as outlined earlier.

The review team will submit a written progress report on the SCR regularly to the [insert local reporting arrangements as discussed and agreed]

Any anticipated delays in the review process must be highlighted by the lead reviewer and agreed by the chair of case review group [insert local arrangement as discussed and agreed]

The final draft report and will be submitted to the chair of the case review group [insert timescale as discussed and agreed] for consideration and the development of an agreed action plan in response to identified areas of learning and recommendations. The lead reviewer will also prepare an executive summary, which will be fully anonymised for publication. In the first instance, the Review Team will correct factual errors or misunderstandings in drafts of the report. Any unresolved matters should be referred to the case review group and ultimately to the APC if required. Local reporting arrangement may differ.

The final report, executive summary and action plan will be submitted to the Case Review Group and thereafter to the [insert local reporting arrangements as discussed and agreed]

The final report will be owned by the APC. The decision regarding what should be published will rest with them. [Insert local arrangements as discussed and agreed internally]

Dissemination and publication

The case and local arrangements will inform wording

The APC will agree a local dissemination approach which ensures the spread of any identified good practice as well as learning, particularly to front line staff.

In order to promote national learning, the findings and recommendations from the SCR will be shared nationally with WithScotland or by specially convened meetings or seminars. This will be taken forward by the Chair of the APC.

Publication

The case and local arrangements will inform wording

The APC has decided that an anonymised executive summary will be published. The APC will arrange to give the identified family members a copy of the executive summary, and will discuss the findings of the review with them before publication. The APC will decide who should get a copy of the full report or the executive summary based on recommendations by the case review group.

The APC will give full consideration to the adult's right to privacy and the adult's right to be protected.

Publication of the report/executive summary will be discussed with COPFS.

The APC will consider whether an oral briefing for relevant parties in advance of publication is required.

The APC will ensure that they have considered the integrity of staff and the duty of care.

The skills and qualities required for the lead reviewer, include:

Leading and directing

- Consider practice experience required for person chairing review – this may differ depending on the particular circumstances of the case
- Responsible for ensuring the required skills and experiences of the Review Team are made available
- Role of body/person setting terms of reference and providing progress reports
- Should have no preconceived views of the case/outcome
- Quality – ability to set out ground rules

Knowledge

- Should have a broad knowledge of protecting adults at risk in line with the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007.
- Knowledge of other relevant legislation (AWI 2000, MHCT 2003)
- RCA or appropriate alternative trained

Analytical skills

- Those chairing/leading reviews must have the ability to interpret and analyse complex multi-agency processes and information.
- Know where, and from whom, to get specific information or expertise
- Logical thinking and ability to map out review process
- Need to understand the context in which services are delivered
- Ability to identify and manage competing interests in a Case Review (for example, professional; political, organisation; public, media)

Person qualities

- Those conducting reviews need to be open minded, fair, a good listener and a logical thinker.
- Experience of practice at various levels across an organisation
- A blend of confidence and humility (to be prepared to learn)
- Need to understand professional backgrounds of those involved and be a multi-agency team player
- Approachable
- Risk assessment/management
- Ability to challenge constructively
- Emotional intelligence

Exemplar SCR Report

Adult's Name:
Unique Identifier for Case Review:
Date of Birth:
Gender:
Basis for referral: (Include vulnerability and harm as it relates to adult at risk of harm criteria)
Introduction This should include the circumstances that led to the review, the purpose and focus of the review, the periods considered and agencies involved, the extent of the family's/carers' involvement. Note how long the report has taken and reasons for any delays.

The facts

This should include the family background and circumstances, including agency involvement. A chronology of significant events, (which should also include when the adult was seen and by whom and whether the adult's views were sought) should also be included. Where appropriate, the chronology may be presented in a number of distinct phases and should be supplemented by a written account of what happened during each phase. In the reviewing of the case, a full chronology will be required but for the purpose of the report, the primary aim at this stage is to highlight areas of practice or events that are considered by the review to be particularly relevant, not to provide an overly detailed account of events. As such the full chronology should not be included within the body of the report. Details of all significant people in the adult's life should also be included.

Analysis

This section should critically assess the key circumstances of the case, the interventions offered, decisions made etc. For example, were the responses appropriate, were key decisions justifiable, was the relevant information sought or considered, were there early, effective and appropriate interventions? Were any concerns about safety and/or wellbeing recognised? Was there a timely and appropriate response? Were the adult's circumstances sufficiently assessed? Were compulsory/legal measures properly considered? If so, when? It should always be remembered that the review is taking place with the benefit of hindsight and the analysis should consider the actions of services within the context of the circumstances of the time.

Key issues

Following on from the analysis and depending on the circumstances of the case, the review should clearly identify the key areas that impacted on the adult and agency responses and then explore these further to understand how they came about. This section should assist readers to understand the 'why' of what happened and a level of root cause analysis should be applied. It would be helpful to explore key areas within a framework of cause and effect factors – for example, resourcing, organisational culture, training, policies etc.

Learning points

This section should highlight the key learning points from the review – again the focus here should not be on 'what happened', but the reasons why it happened as it will be these areas that services and organisations can actively take forward and address. This section should also actively address strengths and good practice identified as well as the learning that has taken place since the case, any changes in practice and policy that have been implemented and the outcome of changes.

Recommendations

These should be SMART: Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Realistic, Timed

Annex 7

Data protection and reports

The following is an extract from a Child Protection SCR completed in September 2013 and may be useful in considering the report structure and content.

'This document contains the conclusions and recommendations of the Significant Case Review relating to D. In the interests of transparency, every effort has been made to disclose as much of the SCR as is lawfully possible. The only editing prior to disclosure is the redaction of personal data, disclosure of which cannot be justified under the Data Protection Act 1998 ('the DPA'). Although there has been a criminal trial and extensive media coverage of this case, and a significant amount of both personal data and sensitive personal data is, as a result of this, publicly available, disclosure of the personal data contained in this report must still comply with the DPA. This means that even though some of the redacted information may already be publicly available, or it may be considered to be in the public interest to disclose, it cannot automatically be disclosed, as the DPA contains certain conditions which must first be met. The process of redacting the SCR has involved careful consideration of:

- The need for transparency and the overall purpose of the SCR in the identification of any lessons learned.
- The public interest in disclosure.

Considering whether information is sensitive personal data, (for example, because it is information about a person's physical or mental health or condition, his/her sexual life, or the commission or alleged commission of an offence) and whether its inclusion in the SCR complies with the Data Protection Act 1998.

Balancing interests in terms of the right to respect for private and family life in terms of Article 8 of the European Convention on Human Rights, meaning that any information contained in the report relating to D himself and other people whose history was closely linked to D can only be released if it is lawful, necessary and proportionate to do so.

Following this, and on taking specialist legal advice, the review panel concluded that in the unique circumstances of this case, it would not be appropriate to release the main body of the report. The narrative of the report could not be redacted so as to remove all information carrying an identification risk or the possibility of causing harm to third parties, and it was felt that removing all such information would lead to the report being at best meaningless and at worst misleading.

The conclusions and recommendations have been included but with certain text (generally containing biographical details) redacted for the reasons set out above. Any redactions are clearly marked with the word '[Redacted]'. Some minor grammatical changes have been made (unflagged) to maintain consistency of language following some redactions.

18. Relevant Legislation

Human Rights Legislation

The European Convention on Human Rights was drawn up in 1950 and ratified by the UK in 1951. The Convention rights, which are binding on statutory agencies include:

- The right to life (Article 2)
- Prohibition of torture and inhumane or degrading treatment or punishment (Article 3)
- The right to liberty and security of person (Article 5)
- The right to respect for private and family life, home and correspondence (Article 8)
- Freedom of thought, conscience and religion (Article 9)
- The right to freedom of expression (Article 10)
- Prohibition of discrimination in the enjoyment of Convention rights (Article 14)
- Prohibition of Abuse of Rights (Article 17)
- Protection of property (Article 1 of the First Protocol)

The Convention rights recognise that there is a balance to be struck between the general interests of society and the protection of the individual's rights. The rights and freedoms set out in the Convention cannot be properly understood without reference to the substantial body of case-law which Strasbourg institutions have developed since 1950. Even then, the European Court of Human Rights has emphasised that the Convention is a living document and must be interpreted in the light of changing attitudes and values in society generally.

The Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968 (as amended by the NHS and Community Care Act 1990 and the Community care and Health (Scotland) Act 2002)

The Act identifies a general duty to assess needs in relation to the provision of community care services and to give carers a right to have their needs assessed by the Council. It is expected that wherever possible intervention will take place under the Social Work (Scotland) 1968 as amended or will revert to this legislation whenever practicable.

The Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998

This act applies across the private and voluntary sectors as well as public bodies. The Act sets out a framework for public interest whistleblowing which protects workers from reprisal because they have raised a concern about malpractice. The Act emphasises the important role whistleblowing can play in determining and detecting malpractice and in building public trust.

Data Protection Act 1998

The Act regulates the processing of information relating to individuals. This includes the obtaining, holding, using or disclosing of such information, and covers computerised records as well as manual filing systems and card indexes.

Where concerns are raised in respect of data being shared, advice should be sought from the agency's Data Protection Officer.

For the purposes of Adult Protection it is lawful for personal information to be shared where there is a genuine concern that the person may be being harmed or at risk of being harmed.

Human Rights Act 1998

The objective of the ECHR has been identified as the protection of individual human rights and the maintenance and promotion of the ideals and values of a democratic society. The ECHR therefore seeks to achieve a fair balance between the demands of the general interests of the community and the protection of individual human rights.

The Human Rights Act (HRA) provides that it is unlawful for a public authority to "act" in a way which is incompatible with a Convention Right. An individual who is directly affected by specific action which is taken/authorised by a public authority is known as a "victim" under the HRA 1998. The victim of an alleged unlawful act may be able to bring a human rights challenge against the public authority concerned. Public authorities must therefore ensure that their policy making, procedures, exercise of discretion and the decisions that they make which affect other people are compatible with Convention Rights.

Not all Convention Rights are guaranteed absolutely and in certain circumstances a public authority will be justified in interfering with an individual's Convention Rights.

Any action that is to be taken by a public authority must be consistent with human rights requirements. Where it is likely that an individual's rights may be infringed upon, then such action must be done under legal authority, have a legitimate aim and be necessary in a democratic society i.e. proportional in terms of finding a balance between carrying out a necessary statutory duty and infringing upon the person's human rights. It is also important that any interference is non-discriminatory.

A public authority has to be able to justify violating a person's human rights e.g. where the infringement of the right to privacy is necessary for the protection of health or morals, or the infringement of the right to liberty is necessary because the person is of unsound mind.

Where concerns are raised that human rights are being infringed, advice should be sought from the Council's Legal Advisor/Solicitor.

Adults with Incapacity \(Scotland\) Act 2000

The Adults with Incapacity (Scotland) Act 2000 is concerned with 'adults' aged 16 or over who are defined as being:

'Incapable of acting, making decisions, communicating decisions, understanding decisions or retaining the memory of decisions, by reason of mental disorder or physical disability'

An adult with an inability to communicate which can be "made good" by human or physical aid does not fall within the definition of the Act.

Capacity is not an 'all or nothing' state: an adult may be able to make decisions relating to some aspects of their life, but not others.

The Local Authority has a responsibility to investigate the circumstances of any individual at risk who comes under the powers/functions of the Act and the Local Authority also has a duty to investigate any circumstance made known to them in which the personal welfare of an adult seems to them to be at risk.

Regulation of Care \(Scotland\) Act 2001

The Regulation of Care (Scotland) Act 2001:

- establishes a new independent body to regulate care services in Scotland. This is known as the Scottish Commission for the Regulation of Care (the Care Commission); and
- establishes a system of care regulation, encompassing the registration and inspection of care services against a set of national care standards and the taking of any enforcement action.

The Act also establishes a new independent body, to be known as the Scottish Social Services Council ("The Council") to regulate social service workers and to promote and regulate their education and training.

Community Care and Health \(Scotland\) Act 2002

It may be that adult's carer requires support to enable them to continue to support the adult. The above Act amends the Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968 to give carers a right to have their carer needs assessed by the council. It would be good practice to bring this assessment right to the notice of any carer providing a substantial amount of care where the carer appears to have unmet caring needs.

Mental Health \(Care & Treatment\) \(Scotland\) Act 2003

The 2003 Act defines mental disorders as any mental illness, personality disorder or learning disability, however caused or manifested

For people who have a mental disorder. Section 33 of the Act places a duty on the local authority to make inquiries where it appears that a person aged 16 or over in their area has a mental disorder and:

- The person may be or may have been subject or exposed to ill-treatment; neglect; or some other deficiency in care or treatment or
- the person's property may be suffering or have suffered loss or damage; or may be at risk of loss or damage or

- the person may be living alone or without care and unable to look after themselves or their property or financial affairs or
- because of the mental disorder the safety or some other person may be at risk.

Vulnerable Witnesses \(Scotland\) Act 2004

The Act provides support measures to help vulnerable adults participate more fully in court proceedings. A vulnerable witness is a witness in respect of whom there is a significant risk that the quality of their evidence may be diminished by reason of fear or distress in connection with giving evidence at a trial. Special measures are intended to help vulnerable witnesses by providing appropriate support when they give their evidence to reduce any anxiety and pressure. It should be noted however that the final decision on whether to use special measures rests with the sheriff in court.

The definition of vulnerability used in this Act goes beyond the definition used within Adult Protection procedures but is likely to include all those covered within these procedures.

The Protection of Vulnerable Groups \(Scotland\) Act 2007

In 2010 the Scottish Government introduced a new membership scheme that replaced and improve upon disclosure arrangements for people who work with vulnerable groups. The scheme aims to ensure those working with children and vulnerable adults (paid or unpaid) do not have a history of harmful behaviour and makes it easier for employers to determine who they should check to protect their client group. The scheme is intended to be quick and easy to use, reducing the need to complete a different application for each time a disclosure is required.

Adult Support & Protection \(Scotland\) Act 2007

The Adult Support and Protection Act 2007 gives greater protection to adults at risk of harm or neglect. The act defines adults at risk as those aged 16 years and over who: and because they are affected by disability, mental disorder, illness or physical or mental infirmity, are more vulnerable to being harmed than adults who are not so affected

Under Section 4 of the Act, a council must make inquiries about a person's well-being, property or financial affairs if it knows or believes that person is an adult at risk of har, and that it might need to intervene in order to protect the person's well-being, property or financial affairs.

The Sexual Offences \(Scotland\) Act 2009

The Act defines a person as incapable where due to mental disorder they are unable to understand what a sexual act is, to decide whether to take part in the sexual act, or communicate such a decision.

Incapacity should therefore not be assumed without ensuring the person has had the opportunity to access appropriate information and education and assistance in understanding this information and it's relevance to them.. Capacity is however not the only test. When a person has capacity to consent to sexual relations but is at risk and likely to come to serious harm, the LA may have responsibilities under the Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007.

There are a number of statutory sexual offences specifically relating to mentally disordered persons in the Mental Health (Care and Treatment) (Scotland) Act 2003 (s.311 - 313) which were repealed and replaced by the Sexual Offences (Scotland) Act 2009 (s.17 and s.46).²⁸ s.311 of the 2003 Act (to be replaced by s.17 of the 2009 Act) creates an offence when there is a non consensual sexual act with a person with a mental disorder when the person does not consent or is incapable of consenting.

s.313 of the 2003 Act (to be replaced by s.46 of the 2009 Act) created an offence of engaging in a sexual act with a mentally disordered person when the offender provides care services, or is employed in a hospital providing medical treatment to the victim. This applies whether the victim has capacity to consent or not.

The Equality Act 2010

Equality Act 2010 provides a legal framework to protect the rights of individuals and advance equality of opportunity for all. The Act restated and simplified 116 separate pieces of earlier equality legislation into one Act.

The Equality Act 2010 replaced these with a new single equality duty covering different 'protected characteristics'; race, sex, disability, sexual orientation, religion and belief, age, gender reassignment and pregnancy and maternity. People themselves do not need to have the characteristic in order to be protected from discrimination. People can be protected from discrimination because of their association with someone who has a protected characteristic e.g. the carer of a disabled person. People are also protected from discrimination if they are 'perceived to' have a protected characteristic. This protection extends to areas such as employment, education, access to goods and services and the exercise of public functions, and membership of clubs and associations. There is also a duty to make reasonable adjustments for disabled people. The legislation sets out enforcement procedures to help people assert their rights.

In addition to individual rights, equality legislation introduced a public sector equality duty to ensure public authorities are proactive in tackling discrimination. The intention is to prevent discrimination happening in the first place by changing the culture of public authorities so that they think about, and take action on, equality as part of their mainstream business.

Violence Against Women is a continuing inequality between men and women, and it is also a barrier to achieving equality. The approach adopted by the Scottish Government is set firmly within the context of the Gender Equality Duty and tackling domestic violence is therefore essential in meeting that duty.

Forced Marriage \(Protection and Jurisdiction\) \(Scotland\) Act 2011

A forced marriage is one where one or both parties are coerced into a marriage against their will and under duress. A forced Marriage is recognised as a form of gender based violence. Duress includes both physical and emotional pressure. Victims can suffer many forms of physical and emotional damage including being held unlawfully captive, assaulted and repeatedly raped.

Forced marriage is an abuse of human rights and cannot be justified on any religious or cultural basis. It is very different from arranged marriage, where both parties give their full and free consent to the marriage. The tradition of arranged marriages has operated successfully within many communities and many countries for a very long time.

The Forced Marriage Unit can provide information for victims, leaflets and support and may be contacted on 0207 008 0151

The Social Care \(Self-Directed Support\) \(Scotland\) Act 2013

This establishes a duty on local authorities to provide adults, children and families with choice over their care and support arrangements through the general principles of involvement, informed choice, collaboration, participation and dignity.

The Scottish Government, local authorities and providers are committed to significant expansion of opportunities for adults to take greater control over their support, either through a direct payment, individual service fund (or similar 'notional budget' option), directly provided services or any combination of these.

Local authorities are subject to the same duties and powers under the 2007 Act where a person chooses to direct their support, or elects to ask the Council to arrange support on their behalf. The responsibility to assess risk, inquire, investigate or, where necessary, intervene to protect remains the same. The statutory guidance accompanying the 2013 Act includes a section on the development of links between adult protection and social care assessment arrangements.

It reinforces the point that enablement through self-directed support rests on a return to the core principles of social care and social work practice. It emphasises the need to support adults to identify their personal outcomes as part of the assessment process and to decide how they wish to meet those outcomes.

Effective self-directed support arrangements rest on good quality assessment, support, planning and review. They depend on the individual and where appropriate, their circles of support and any children living in the household, being fully involved in identifying, assessing and managing risks. In some instances, the subsequent choices made by an individual may increase risk but by providing the individual with greater control over their support and supporting them to make informed choices regarding potential risk, an individual can also develop and improve their ability to protect themselves.

Victims and Witnesses \(Scotland\) Act 2014

From the 1st July 2015 victims of a crime can for a review of a decision by the Fiscals Office not to prosecute or to stop or discontinue a case after it has started in court. This applies to decisions made after the 1st July 2015. Requests must be made within 1 month being notified of the decision.

It may be that an adult (or their proxy), who has been the victim of a crime and who has gone through the ASP process, but no action has been taken would like to request a review of the decision. Information is available on the Crown Office and Procurator Fiscal webpage. In some cases an adult may just wish to ask why a decision was made rather than request a review. In this case the Victim Information and Advice service can be contacted by telephoning the enquiry line on 01389 739 557.

Human Trafficking and Exploitation \(Scotland\) Act 2015

Makes provision about human trafficking and slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour, including provision about offences and sentencing, provision for victim support and provision to reduce activity related to offences.

The Health \(Tobacco, Nicotine etc and Care\) \(Scotland\) Act 2016

Wilful Neglect and Ill Treatment (Part 3) introduces new offences of wilful neglect or ill treatment in Scotland for adults receiving health care or social care. This consists of two offences, one applying to care workers and the other applying to care providers.

Duty of Candour (Part 2) introduces a new duty is to ensure that organisations are open, honest and supportive when there is an unexpected or unintended incident resulting in death or harm, as defined in the Act.
